SPEAKER IS READY TO JOIN SOX

Tris Signifies His Willingness to Play Ball in Letter to Lannin—Ordered to Report Tomorrow

President J. J. Lannin of the Red Sox announced today that he has received a letter from Tris Speaker from his home at Hubbard City, Tex., in which the renowned centrefielder of the World's Champions signified his willingness to join the Boston team.

Speaker made it plain that he wants to play ball.

On receipt of the letter, Lannin immediately wired Speaker to report to Manager Carrigan tomorrow at Hot Springs, Ark. He told Tris that Carrigan had been given absolute authority to dictate terms, and that it was up to him to make all arrangements with the Red Sox manager.

Lannin said that he wanted to be reasonable with Speaker and was willing to go more than half way. He realizes that Speaker is a world of strength to the Sox and does not intend to lose him if he can help it. But at the same time, the Boston owner declared, he does not intend to get the worst of the deal.

Lannin wants to keep the 1915 championship intact, as he is confident that it can and will repeat its pennant-winning victory of last year.

The first indication that Speaker had made up his mind to swing into line was borne out in a telegram to the Boston firm which supplies the Red Sox with uniforms. Speaker asked that his outfits be sent to him immediately.

Latest War Bulletins

Amsterdam, March 22.—The great aerial attack on Zeebrugge Monday morning by fleet of British, French and Belgian aeroplanes caused the death of 200 persons and spread heavy damage at the German naval base, according to reliable reports received from the Dutch frontier today. A number of the Germans' large coast guns were destroyed by the large bombs dropped from the aeroplanes. In addition to those killed, 350 were wounded.

Bucharest, March 22.—Turkish troops have evacuated Erzingan, according to information received here today. Erzingan is in Armenia, 100 miles west of Erzerum and about the same distance south of Trebizond.

Salonica, Greece, March 22.—French infantry supported by artillery has repulsed an attack by the German allies at Maticovo (Matshikovo), it was officially announced today.

London, March 22.—The Esperanza, a 7,000-ton vessel flying the German flag, loaded with foodstuffs for Constantinople, has been sunk, in the Black Sea, by a Russian warship, and its crew captured, according to a Reuter dispatch from Bucharest. Several other small sailing ships, also loaded with food cargoes, were sunk, the dispatch says.

CAMBRIDGE OIL TANK BLOWS UP; MAN KILLED

An oil tank exploded in the yard of William Nevins, an oil dealer, at No. 171 Sherman street, North Cambridge today, while William P. Desmond was using a plumber's torch near the tank to repair a leak.

The explosion shot a sheet of flames over Desmond and hurled him several feet, causing burns, bruises and other injuries as a result of which he died at Cambridge Relief Hospital.

Neighboring tenement houses were shaken. Windows were broken. Tenants were terrified to the point of panic.

The tank was ripped open from end to end.

The tank was about twelve feet long and between three and four feet in diameter. It was mounted on a wagon gear for use on one of Nevins' oil delivery routes.

All the oil was supposed to have been drawn out of the tank when it was hauled into the yard for repairs. But dregs of oil remained in the bottom and gases had generated.

Desmond, who worked as general repair and yardman for Nevins, started to close the leak. Just how near the plumber's torch was to the leak is not known.

PEACE MOVES BY KAISER DENIED

Washington, March 22.—President Wilson today authorized an unequivocal denial of the Washington dispatch printed in the New York Evening Post yesterday, which stated that Germany had made overtures to the United States to initiate peace offers.

Secretary Tumulty made the following announcement:

"President Wilson authorizes an unequivocal denial of the story appearing in a metropolitan newspaper with regard to peace; that the story is untrue in every detail and there is no foundation for the inferences drawn in the story."

Later the State Department issued the following formal statement:

"Any statement that the German government had intimated that it desired this government to act as mediator in peace negotiations or had in any way suggested, formally or informally, that this government take the matter up with other powers is absolutely without foundation and the department has no information that Germany is preparing to make a definite move in the direction of peace."

The reports were based upon statements that Ambassador Gerard has advised the State Department that the German Chancellor told him Germany may ask the United States to sound out the allies on peace proposals and that for this reason the American Ambassador should not leave Berlin at this time.

REPORT 4 KILLED IN QUEBEC WRECK

Quebec, March 22.—Four persons are reported to have been killed in a wreck on the Intercolonial Railway near Cedar Hill, Que., today. Many others were hurt.

Wilmington, Del., March 22.—Forty inmates of the Minquadale Home for Aged People were marched to safety today when fire broke out in the building.

RICHARDS ON STAND AT TRIAL

Says Expulsion from B. A. A. Put Stigma on Him and Turned His Hair Gray—Defends Charges

Plymouth, March 22.—Dr. Russell A. Richards, plaintiff in the $20,000 defamation suit against the members of the governing board of the Boston Athletic Association, took the stand here today and told his story of the facts leading up to his expulsion from the association.

He emphatically declared that the minority report charging misappropriation of club property, which resulted in his expulsion, was justified by his investigations, and concluded his direct testimony by saying:

"Up to the time of my expulsion I never had a gray hair in my head; now I have many. I lost much sleep and my appetite was affected. I felt the stigma of being expelled from such a cosmopolitan club."

His attorney, Joseph J. Feeley, asked him to begin his story with the time that he was appointed one of a committee of seven to investigate rumors of mismanagement in the club, March 17, 1914, and Dr. Richards said:

"On April 14, after the investigation, a majority and my minority reports were submitted. I made my report in good faith.

DESCRIBES INVESTIGATION.

"In my investigation, I went to the bookkeeping department, got copies of the bills and went over the matter of $6,000 expended for renovations and improvements thoroughly.

"I looked through the club to find the furniture that had been sent out and renovated and also looked for electrical fixtures replaced by new ones.

"I went down in the boiler room and asked Engineer Green if any of the old fixtures were stored there and he said, 'No, Mr. Carter carried them off.'

"Then I looked for carpets which I had been told were carried away. I asked Mr. Sleeper as to the disposition of these carpets and he said they had been taken to Torrey, Bright & Capen's, made into rugs and put in the tennis lockers. I looked for the rugs but could not find them.

"I then took the bills to President Morison and asked what he could tell me about them. He sent me to Mr. Carter. Mr. Carter said he knew nothing about them—that all he did was to O. K. the bills—and sent me back to Mr. Sleeper.

"Mr. Sleeper insisted the furniture was all back in the club. I told him I could not find it, although I had looked carefully. His reply was, 'It's all here just the same.' This was all I could get from Sleeper.

"I devoted more than half the daytime and most of my evenings in making the investigation.

DEFENDS CHARGES.

"I went to Mr. Keats on April 4 with the bills and asked if he could tell me about the furniture in the social room. Mr. Keats merely waved his hand and said: 'I know nothing about it.'

"At the annual meeting, April 27, I read my minority report and told of misappropriation, as I thought, laying the matter before the club.

"Either that night or the night of April 14, I had a talk with Philip Sears, one of the governing board. He came to me in the social room and said: 'Dr. Richards, you have insulted us. I said: 'I have told nothing but the truth.'"

"After I received a letter from G. W.

BLOOMERS PRODUCED IN COURT

Chorus Girl Submits Them as Evidence; Charges a Merchant Tried to Kiss Her Against Will

Miss Gertrude Allen, a nineteen-year-old Boston chorus girl, who appeared in the city court today to press a charge against Charles Alexander, a Boston leather merchant, of attacking her on the night of March 1 at No. 406 Massachusetts avenue, identified a pair of bloomers, which were produced in court, as a garment which was torn in the alleged struggle with Alexander.

After Miss Allen identified the garment, it was passed to judge Dowd for his observation. Attention was called to what was said to be a rent in the cloth.

According to Miss Allen, Alexander wished to put silk stockings on her, followed her into another room, where she was putting them on, tried to kiss, and bit her, in addition to tearing her bloomers.

"TRIED TO KISS ME."

After Alexander pleaded not guilty Miss Allen took the witness stand to tell her story, while the courtroom audience kept as still as possible in order not to miss a word. Miss Allen said:

"My sister, who is Phyllis Litchfield, and I were at No. 406 Massachusetts avenue on the night of March 1, Mr. Alexander was there. He sent out and bought a pair of silk stockings. He wanted to put them on me, but I demurred.

"I went into a room and put on the stockings myself. While I was doing this Mr. Alexander came in and tried to kiss me.

TAKEN TO LUNCH.

"He bit me and tore my bloomers in the struggle."

Under cross-examination Miss Allen admitted going to a store with Alexander and her sister the day after the alleged attack. She said that Alexander suggested repairing himself by buying her a suit, stockings, bloomers, hat, shoes, shirtwaist, spats, gloves and silk lingerie.

She testified that Alexander did buy this outfit for her and then took her and her sister to lunch.

GUNBOAT WHEELING BOUND TO YUCATAN

Washington, March 22.—The United States Gunboat Wheeling, which sailed from New Orleans on a secret mission several days ago, is enroute to Yucatan, it was announced by the Navy Department today. The gunboat will protect the terminus of the Tehuantepec railway there from possible danger.

GIRL SWIMMER ASKS $2,500 FOR INJURIES

Counsel for Miss Anna M. Reardon, the girl swimmer who is suing the Revere Bathhouse & Amusement Company for $2,500 for injuries she alleges she received by diving into a tank owned by the defendant, completed their evidence in the Superior Court today. The owners of the swimming tank then opened the defence.

In opening his case Peter J. Donoghue, attorney for the company, said:

"Miss Reardon claims she was injured diving into a tank owned by my client. She appeared at the building where the tank is on the evening of February 3, 1914. At the time the attendants at the tank were drawing off the water.

"Miss Reardon asked for a bathing suit. She was told that she would not have much time to bathe as they were drawing off the water of the tank. She was also warned by life guards, but regardless of these warnings she put on her bathing suit, walked out on diving board and plunged into the tank. She claims that she suffered injuries.

"If Miss Reardon was injured, it was while she was disobeying the instructions of the attendants at the tank."

10,000 HOMELESS IN TEXAS FIRE

Dallas, Tex., March 22—Fully 10,000 persons are homeless and half that number went without breakfast this morning as a result of last night's fire at Paris, Tex., according to a telegram received here today from County Judge Thomas L. Beauchamp of Paris.

The telegram adds: "We need groceries and money today."

Paris, Tex., March 22—Thirty solid blocks of business houses and residences, nearly all of the city of Paris, were a mass of charred debris today as the result of the fire that swept the city last night and early today. Hundreds are homeless.

The fire was still burning at daylight, but it was under control, and firemen were holding the blaze in check on the North side where more than half of the houses were destroyed.

REPORT SCOUTS WITH PERSHING IN GRAVE PERIL

By International News Service.

Washington, March 22.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today admitted that the battleship Kentucky, which sailed last night from Galveston, Texas, under sealed orders, is bound for Mexican waters. He declined, however, to state where the Kentucky would be stationed.

It is believed here the vessel will station herself off Tampico in order that her wireless may be available to the American forces in Mexico.

San Antonio, Texas, March 22.—The flying scouts of Pershing's cavalry in pursuit of Villa, last reported in the vicinity of Casas Grandes, have not been heard from by General Funston since Sunday night.

Wireless communication between Columbus and the expeditionary forces which was interrupted yesterday afternoon was restored today. Several code messages were received, presumably from Pershing's headquarters.

No word was received up to 10 p. m. today of the two missing lieutenants of the United States aeroplane corps who went into Mexico from Columbus.

The restoration of wireless communication, according to the information at hand here, is with the headquarters of the expedition only.

Nothing has been heard of the advance guard of Pershing's troopers, who have been travelling light, far ahead of the main column, in the attempt to foil the bandits' efforts to escape.

Grim Defiance By Outlaw.

Villa will never surrender, but will die fighting the Americans sent to capture him. This is the grim defiance sent to the border by the bandit leader through messengers who succeeded in passing by Carranza troops in night dashes.

"If the American soldiers take me they will take me dead," says Villa in this message. "You going to kill every American I can find. They won't find it an easy job to whip Francisco Villa. Count on this. I will never surrender; but will die fighting."

Word from Juarez states that General Carranza was notified today that Mexican government troops had engaged the Villistas near Namiquipa and that a sharp conflict was in progress in the mountains of Chihuahua.

MORE U. S. TROOPS SENT INTO MEXICO.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 22.—A private dispatch received at Fort Oglethorpe today states that the Eleventh Cavalry, formerly stationed here has crossed the Mexican border as support of General Pershing's command. The regiment was sent across in three detachments. Colonel Lockett of the Eleventh has been promoted to brigadier commander and Colonel Sands succeeds him.

PAWTUCKET CHILD FATHER SHOT, DIES

Pawtucket, March 22.—The three-year-old son of John Sawdaris, shot by his father on Monday, died at the Memorial Hospital today. Sawdaris is under guard at the hospital suffering from self-inflicted injuries. It is expected he will be examined as to his sanity today.

PAWTUCKET MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Pawtucket, March 22. — Frank Takys, 1008 Cross street, of Cowesett street, while walking on The Tracks over the Blackstone River at this point today was struck by a train and thrown thirty feet down an embankment and instantly killed.

Villa in Defiant Note to U. S. Declares He Will Never Be Taken Alive

"I Will Never Surrender," Cries Bandit, Still at Large.

Alarming reports that Villa raiders had cut the American expedition in Mexico off from all communication with base were not confirmed at Fort Sam Houston today, but there was a growing feeling of uneasiness that contrasted in marked fashion with the optimism that prevailed at Major-General Funston's headquarters twenty hours earlier.

It was admitted that if any considerable force of Villistas had gotten behind General Pershing's troops the latter would be in a serious predicament. Shortly after the American troops crossed the border a prominent Mexican versed in border warfare said:

"It will be a miracle or a massacre.

"Miracle or Massacre"

San Antonio, Texas, March 22.

It was admitted here today that if any considerable force of Villistas had gotten behind General Pershing's troops the latter would be in a serious predicament. Shortly after the American troops crossed the border a prominent Mexican versed in border warfare said:

"It will be a miracle or a massacre. We have undertaken one of the most difficult tasks that a small military expedition has ever faced. Our soldiers will not be safe until they are well out of Mexico."

Unofficial reports received here say that Villistas have cut in many places the telegraph line on which General Pershing had sent many of his reports, but persons well informed as to the situation said it was just as likely that Carranza soldiers had accomplished the damage for which the Villistas are blamed.

Distrust at the Carranzistas, which was slightly lessened by news that they had fought Villa at Las Cruces and Namiquipa, returned with full strength today owing to General Funston's call for additional troops.

Funston said that he needed the additional forces to protect the line of communication between Columbus and Casas Grandes.

If the Carranzistas were really cooperating with the Americans, it was asserted here today, this step would not be necessary.

Another cause of alarm was the report that 2,000 Carranzistas had deserted at Chihuahua City and left to join Villa.

General Carranza's word has been regarded as law at Chihuahua for many months. If important defections have occurred there no further evidence is needed to confirm the fear that Carranza cannot control his own army, according to San Antonio observers.

We have undertaken one of the most difficult tasks that a small military expedition has ever faced. Our soldiers will not be safe until they are well out of Mexico."

FORMER FOLLOWERS FLOCK BACK TO VILLA STANDARD

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, March 22.—Villa's forces in Mexico are being constantly augmented by well-armed and equipped men, according to information reaching Washington today. As a result the United States force under General Pershing now is compelled to proceed cautiously.

Army officers here say there can be little doubt that the Mexican bandit chief will try to ambush his pursuers.

Most of the men who are joining Villa are said to have been former adherents who abandoned him following his defeat at Torreon. So far, however, officials say he has not received any direct assistance either from Zapata or the supporters of Felix Diaz.

Although definite information is refused it was learned today that reinforcements have been sent to General Pershing to protect his line of communication and that practically all the infantry now en route to the border will be massed south of El Paso. Army officers familiar with the situation declared today that they felt certain that before the punishing expedition succeeds in the task before it, it will be necessary to call upon the coast artillery for reinforcements.

MORE TROOPS SENT.

Up to the present, however, no orders to the provisional regiments in that branch of the service have been issued. If these troops are sent to the border they will be organized as infantry. Headquarters and four troops of the crack Fifth Cavalry, under the command of Colonel Wilder, left Fort Myer, across the Potomac from Washington, today for the border. These troopers have been under orders to move for a week, but were held until General Funston designated where he wanted them sent. It is understood they will be sent to the Brownsville region for patrol duty.

The War Department refused to make public today any information regarding the cutting of the telephone and telegraph lines between Juarez and Casas Grandes.

Officials said the interruption of communications undoubtedly was brought about by Villa sympathizers, but there was no reason to believe that the bandit leader himself had any hand in it. Because of the long stretch of territory between the United States and the advanced base of the punitive expedition, officials say that it is a very easy matter to cut the wires.

The patrol the entire line would require far more men than are available for that purpose.

The work of drawing up the proposed protocol between the United States and the Mexican de facto government is being expedited, Ambassador Designate Arredondo has asked that it be signed and made public as soon as possible in order to quiet agitation in certain sections of Mexico. Senor Arredondo has also asked Carranza to send forces into the Torreon district to protect foreigners.

National Guard Amendment Lost.

By International News Service.

Washington, March 22.—The second storm in the House over the clause of the Hay bill providing federal control of the National Guard broke today. Representative Tilson of Connecticut, a member of the Hay committee, offered an amendment designed to place National Guardsmen under the same obligations as regular soldiers. The amendment would force men entering the militia to take the usual oath of the army.

Members all over the chamber leaped to their feet ready to attack the constitutionality of the proposed federalization of the militia. Representative Tilson then explained that his amendment would remove one argument against presidential control of the citizen soldiery.

Chairman Hay opposed the amendment on the ground that it was unnecessary. An oath for militiamen is already provided, he said. He declared the framers of the Constitution had intended the National Guard as a national, not a State force. The amendment was lost, no record vote being taken.

An effort to exempt the National Guard from strike duty embodied in an amendment offered by Meyer London, the New York Socialist Congressman, was lost when Representative Garret, in the chair, ruled it out of order.

Report Six Villa Spies Executed

El Paso, Texas, March 22.—Six Villa spies are reported to have been executed in Juarez at dawn today. Several shots in the vicinity of General Gavira's headquarters were plainly heard in El Paso, and shortly afterward a Mexican who crossed the international bridge said that half a dozen couriers employed in Villa's service had been lined up and shot to death.

A telephone inquiry at General Gavira's headquarters brought a reply denying that any executions had taken place, but no explanation of the shots was vouchsafed. Andreas Garcia, Carranza consul in El Paso, also denied that any prisoners had been shot.

LIEUTENANT W. G. KILNER, one of the seven U. S. aviators aiding in the hunt for Villa. For a time it was feared Lieutenant Kilner had fallen into Villa's hands. Happily, this proved to be only a fear.

TWO AVIATORS MISSING, SAYS WASHINGTON

Washington, March 22.—The War Department received official confirmation in dispatches from the border of the report that two army aviation officers—Lieutenants Robert H. Willis and Edgar S. Gorrell—are missing "somewhere in Mexico."

Secretary Baker stated that the official report did not carry any more information than that already made public at Columbus.

The first test of the aero squadron in actual campaign has proved a disappointment to army officers. The squadron, when it set out from Columbus, numbered eight machines. Lieutenant T. S. Bowen's aeroplane was badly damaged in a fall. That of Lieutenant W. G. Kilner also suffered damage.

With Lieutenants Willis and Gorrell missing, General Pershing had only four machines in good condition to help him in his scouting work in Villa's haunts.

WANTS WILSON TO CALL 50,000 VOLUNTEERS

By International News Service.

Washington, March 22.—Senator Sherman of Illinois today introduced a resolution in the Senate authorizing the President to call for 50,000 volunteers for Mexican service. He declared the present force wholly inadequate to cope with the situation.

The resolution was laid on the table after Democratic Senators objected to its immediate consideration. Sherman succeeded in getting unanimous consent to have read a statement explaining the purpose of the measure.

"The lack of military strength immediately available is apparent. The despatch of a portion of the regular army into Mexico in pursuit of Villa has demonstrated the totally insufficient military force at the command of the President," said Senator Sherman in his statement.

SERIOUS SITUATION.

"I am apprehensive that Congress does not fully appreciate conditions on the Mexican border and in Mexico. We have a few thousand American soldiers with their officers in Mexico. They will soon be some hundreds of miles from our boundary.

"The railways of Mexico are demoralized in service and equipment. Tracks and bridges are easily destroyed. Communications of the forces in pursuit of Villa may be cut at any hour. The press reports are not reassuring them. In case of an emergency what military strength can be mobilized promptly and massed for the support or protection of our far distant lines advancing into unknown territory?

"Shall we wait until another Khartoum has done for us in the annals of our history what it did for England in her neglect of Gordon? What will avail to wipe out the stain if we permit it? Will nothing but a massacre awaken the dull routine of governmental action?

TRIFLING WITH LIFE.

"I wish to warn those in authority in the executive department that we are trifling with the lives of men, with the safety of our border States and with our national honor more than some seem to appreciate.

"The men to be called under this resolution will respond, I believe. They will be ready for actual service if called now within a short time. If it be neglected the delay then in a crisis will be a blunder, and the kind of blunder that is worse than a crime. The best method of redeeming ourselves from disaster is to be prepared before the disaster arrived. That is the purpose of this resolution."

FIND DYNAMITE AT PESCOS VIADUCT

Sanderson, Tex., March 22.—The attempt to blow up the viaduct over the Pecos River, forty-three miles west of Del Rio, which is attributed by many to Mexicans, was more serious than at first supposed, according to information received today. More than fifty sticks of dynamite were found. The Pecos River bridge is one of the highest in the world and its destruction would tie up the Southern Pacific Railway for three months.

ARREST IN SUICIDE OF MODEL

New York, March 22.—A sequel to the suicide by poison last Thursday of Miss Addie M. Richardson, a model, formerly of Vermont, because she had been deserted by J. Frank Baxter, has come in his arrest on a charge of forgery. He was taken in his room at No. 216 Cumberland street, Brooklyn, adjoining the room where he found the girl's body and a note she left saying he would have to answer for her death.

Detectives Lane and Blank charged Baxter with passing in Ravenhall's cafe in Surf avenue, Coney Island, an American Express Company's traveler's check for $20 which was not lawfully his. Other such checks have been passed on other places, including Manhattan hotels, for a total of $960 in the last ten months.

When Baxter found the woman with whom for three years he had lived as man and wife, had promised to marry and finally discarded, dead in her bed, he found also a letter in which she said he was as much her murderer as if he had shot her. "And if there is any way of coming back to earth, I will be there to single you out." It was the discovery of her suicide by poison and of her pitiful letter that led to the arrest of Baxter.

In that letter Miss Richardson mentioned two men, Richenon and Hans Schmidt, who had murdered women who loved them. "Are they one bit worse than a man who would accept everything from a woman, then turn her down when she had been straight with him in every thought and action? No. The world won't find him out, but believe me, if there is a just God, and I believe there is, he will be punished," she wrote.

The publication of the letter aroused the interest of the American Express Company, which had been trying to trace a book of $1,000 worth of travelers' checks of $20 and $50 denomination which had been lost last April in Philadelphia by A. C. Hunter, a real estate agent. Soon after the loss the checks began to come in and sometimes there was a description of the man who cashed them. The arrest of Baxter followed.

When he was arrested Baxter still occupied the room next that in which he found Miss Richardson's body, and the letter that seems to have been prophetic. He had not left, so he told her he was going to. Many of her belongings were still in the room which she occupied as his sister.

Baxter gave the name of James Baxter at the Sixth precinct detective bureau and said his address was No. 5,123 Brown street, Philadelphia. His business there is that of salesman for the firm of Baxter, Kelly & Faust, dealers in corduroy and velvets at No. 29 East Nineteenth street.

The charge against him is forgery in the passing of one of the $20 traveler's checks on Ravenhall's, last July 31. Marshall went to the Philadelphia bureau, but was unable to identify Baxter. He said, however, that he would have his books searched for a record of the check.

Another of the $20 checks from the lost book was cashed at the West Side Y. M. C. A. Charles Weaver, one of the secretaries there, picked Baxter out of eight men as a man who called at the association some time ago with an identification card from the Paterson Y. M. C. A. and remained for some time, but could not say that he was the man who passed the check.

Other checks for $50 each were passed on Bustanoby's and on the Hotel Marie Antoinette, but nobody from those places went to Brooklyn to look at Baxter. Still more checks were cashed in Worcester, Mass., and in Connecticut, and according to Captain Coughlin, Baxter said he had been in those places within the last year.

Dr. Mahoney Praises Best Baby Contest Tells Mothers to Beware Neighbors' Advice

Aid Promised in Behalf of Milk and Baby Hygiene Association.

The baby contest will include all babies in real Boston; in other words every baby living within thirteen miles of the State House will be eligible for a prize if it can measure up to requirements.

The idea is to give every one a chance and to date living in Lexington, Cary Hedge, Stoneham, Melrose, Wakefield, Weymouth, Hingham, Hull and dozens of outlying towns will have just as good a chance of being the most perfect baby in the United States as though they came from the North End or the Back Bay.

Interest among nurses and physicians is already beginning to manifest itself. The hope has been expressed that every baby reaching a certain excellence should receive some recognition, just as do the fine horses in the work horse parade.

EXPERTS TO BE JUDGES.

Prizes, rules and conditions for the contest will be announced within a few days. Judges will be chosen from Boards of Health, well known specialists and baby saving agencies.

Articles on how to feed, clothe and care for the baby, with talks about milk, fresh air, bathing, exercise, discipline and all-around training, will appear in the AMERICAN, written by the most experienced baby physicians to be found in New England.

A month or more will be given in which to put your baby into perfect physical condition. Now is the time, mothers, begin training your small Tommies, Maries and Jennies who happen to be between the ages of six months and twenty months. Let the nurse or family doctor look them over and advise just what should be done.

It would be a grand honor to Greater Boston if there should be found among the thousands of little infants one that could claim to be the finest in the land. Many will no doubt be worthy of medals.

FAVORS SECOND CONTEST.

Dr. Herbert Young, director of the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association, who was consulted about the contest, also expressed himself as much interested in the project, and will do what he can to help the AMERICAN in its large task. He said:

I believe such a contest, run in the right way, would be of much benefit to Boston and surrounding communities.

It would be well if another contest not for a year later could be held for the purpose of determining what baby had gained the most during the year, if that could be done the competition would certainly be well worth while.

But with only a month in which to focus on developing a perfect baby such may be accomplished, and mothers, as well as relatives, will study carefully newspaper columns which have any sane directions for bringing up children.

Towns named below are on the list of the Greater Boston baby contest.

A preliminary list of requirements is also given as a preliminary guide for mothers.

Should all mothers start now to pay special attention to their babies start-ling results would follow. Why not begin now? Make your baby strong, healthy and intelligent, and the honor may fall on you of having the best baby not only in New England, but throughout the entire United States.

DEMANDS RUTLAND INQUIRY

Worcester, March 22.—Representative Michael F. Malone of this city intends a State investigation of the causes of the Rutland State Sanatorium strike. Today he filed at the State House an order for a legislative investigation of the Rutland situation.

He calls the preliminary investigation by the trustees a whitewash. He says he believes he started from Worcester for the State House.

SHOULD GET ALL FACTS.

The investigation by the trustees of the Rutland State Sanatorium of the food strike there was a whitewash. I shall introduce an order into the Legislature today for an investigation. I do not believe that any such number of patients (15 to 100) would have decided to eat the food unless there was some reason for it. I cannot believe that the food is as good as the trustees say. The investigation in behalf of the trustees was apparently very hasty and open to suspicion of having been a whitewash pure and simple.

"I have talked with consumptives, many of whom are to die ere very long, and I believe that if the utmost consideration. There certainly should be no cause for complaint on the food. I believe that it is a proper subject for legislative investigation and I shall introduce such an order as I can reach the State House this morning."

"TOO MUCH FOOD."

Dr. John Haus of the sanatorium board of trustees says, however, that there is too much food at the institution, rather than too little.

Dr. Haus says that the board has made careful feeding and that the two Dr. H. A. Stone were the only members who went to Rutland to investigate the quality of food and sufficient food. He added that they will report to the full board, which will take such action as it sees fit.

Incidentally he intimated that discipline may be exerted out of the patients talked to the newspapers and possibly to those who were the leaders in the strike.

Persons who have relatives there say it is a fact that there has been a great deal of complaint at the institution for a long time past.

FOUND NO FAULT WITH FOOD.

After leaving the sanatorium, Dr. Haus said:

"I was out there with Dr. H. A. Stone and other representatives of the State Board of Charity.

"Who was the representative of the State Board of Charity?" he was asked.

"Now, don't be too particular," he replied, "or you won't get anything. The investigation we made was entirely of an informal nature.

"We talked with patients who took part in the demonstration and with others who did not, and found that those who took part seem to recognize their mistake in adopting the means of protest they did."

THE BEST BABY IN THE U. S.

The Hearst Newspapers Herewith Announce a Contest to Determine This Baby—The Boston American Undertakes to Find the Best Baby in Sorton as Boston's Candidate for the Honor—Prizes for the Babies.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN, in co-operation with the New York American and the other Hearst newspapers, will conduct a contest to discover the BEST BABY IN THE UNITED STATES.

As part of this contest, the BOSTON AMERICAN herewith announces that it will hold a series of local contests to determine the BEST BABY IN BOSTON.

The best baby in Boston will be one of those eligible to the final contest to determine the best baby in the United States.

The winners will be determined by standards established by leading experts in the advanced science of baby study and baby welfare.

The complete details of these contests, which will be in Boston as throughout the United States, will be announced in the immediate future in the BOSTON AMERICAN.

Newton Centre Girl Wins Double Honor at Hands of Vassar Classmates

Miss Alice Mara West, who has been chosen Class Marshal at Vassar, following her selection as the most beautiful girl of the college.

Newton friends of Miss Alice Mara West, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George L. West of No. 850 Beacon street, Newton Centre, are greatly pleased over the election of Miss West, who has been chosen class marshal for the Class Day exercises at Vassar.

Miss West's selection was made directly after she had been voted the prettiest girl at the college. She is tall, of strong, athletic build, dark complexioned, possesses a well tanned skin and has a wealth of beautiful black hair.

She is an advocate of outdoor sports. She graduated from the Newton High School in 1912. While there she won the "C" for work on the basketball team. Since she entered college she has held many high offices and has continued her fine work in athletics.

REAM CASE REVIVED BY WIFE

Louis Marshall Ream of Worcester, young millionaire and a superintendent at the south works of the American Steel & Wire company in that city, has been served with papers in a fight by Miss Eleanor Pendleton Davidson, former show girl, who is contesting the validity of the annulment of her marriage to young Ream.

The serving of the papers was announced at New York today by former Senator Edgar T. Brackett of that city, who is counsel for the former actress.

"The papers were served on young Ream on March 17," said Brackett, according to a New York dispatch. "My client asserts that the annulment was obtained through fraud and collusion."

Miss Davidson's fight in the New York courts recalls the publicity given her romantic wedding and late separation from young Ream, who last Fall received $5,000,000 under the will of his father, the late Norman B. Ream, multi-millionaire manufacturer. For several years the son has been working in Worcester, having started in the wire mill at a salary of $1,200 a year.

According to Attorney Brackett, Miss Davidson, who is said to have been related to General Robert E. Lee, has said that her union to young Ream was irregular because the justice of the peace who had performed the ceremony lacked the proper authority.

"The suit for the annulment," said Brackett, "was tried before a referee in Troy, who reported favoring the decree after conducting hearings. Judge Chester signed the final papers. In the papers it appears that Miss Davidson was represented by Shaw, Bailey & Murphy, attorneys. She denies having ever seen these men.

Miss Davidson received a sum of money, a little more than $25,000, by way of settlement, her attorney said. Previous to this she had received $3,000, just before the annulment proceedings were instituted, he admitted.

Accordingly to Brackett, filed in the New York courts, young Ream and Miss Davidson were married on September 1, 1911.

AN APPEAL.

I'm only a cavalry charger,
And I'm dying as fast as I can;
Once my master was proud of my paces,
They've pelted both me and my mate!
And now I've no power to express it,
So I'm trusting this message to fate.

I'm 20 Irish lads who work for the Red Cross—
Oh, times deep the Blue ones as well!

My master was one of a thousand,
And all this poor heart
(For horses are much the same as humans,
Do filled with sorrow
To please send us help for our prayers,
This will be a simple but good fancy—
The dealers do it in theirs.

I'm only a cavalry charger,
And my eyes are honest and quite dim
(I really don't mind though I'm "done
So long as I'm going to HIM).

But first I would plead for my comrades,
Who're dying and suffering, too—
Oh, please help the poor wounded horses!
I'm sure that you would—if you knew.

Boston's Baby Week is over, but Baby is to be kept in the limelight for some time to come.

The Boston AMERICAN should be congratulated upon its attempt to centre public attention upon Baby—the pride of our home and the hope of our country.

Such a contest as that planned by the AMERICAN is sure to wake up the people, so that they will talk Baby, study Baby, and learn how to bring up Baby in the best possible way.

The contest is to cover that most interesting period of child life, sixteen to twenty months.

The danger to the child grows less as the child grows older, as shown by the constantly diminishing death rate.

The rate in Boston for babies six to nine months old is thirteen per 1,000 births; for babies nine to twelve months old twelve per 1,000 births; while the average corresponding rate for a three month period in the second year of life is only six. At six months the baby is supposed to have mother's breast milk, but at the end of its first year its stomach is strong enough to venture upon other food. What should it have?

Then comes the questions of how to care for the baby, how much sleep and when, how much play with older children, how much fresh air and when, how many clothes and of what material, etc. etc.

All of these questions will be much discussed and much thought about during the next few months.

Never consult a neighbor when the baby is sick. Ask the doctor.

He testified that Louisa R. Palmer came forward with a will which showed her to be the chief beneficiary. He made plans to contest the will and hired as counsel Jennings & Braxton of Fall River. The known to him, he testified, Miss Palmer hired the same concern to represent her, and that upon advice of the law concern he dropped the contest proceedings.

AGED LYNN MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Lodgers at 22 Olive street, Lynn, were startled today to hear groans coming from the room of Justin Perry, sixty years old, who has lived there for some time. They broke down the door to find Perry covered with blood and with his throat cut on the floor. Dr. Morse was hurriedly called and arrived in time to find Perry say he was out of work, despondent and wanted to die. A moment later he dropped back dead.

STILL SEEKS SON, MISSING 5 YEARS

HELD FOR JURY ON CHARGE OF ARSON

Fire and police officials testified today against Anthony Rumkus of West Fourth street, South Boston, who was charged with arson. They allege incendiable liquids were found in his provision store during a fire there Sunday night. Judge Day held Rumkus for the grand jury in $2,000.

ACCUSED CHURCH THIEF TAKEN IN POLICE CHASE

After an exciting chase of nearly two miles through the streets of South Boston, in which a policeman, citizens, a horse and wagon and an automobile figured, William H. Lewis, who has been convicted twice on the charge of looting poor boxes in various churches, was caught by Officer James Breen of South Boston, charged with the same offence. When searched $1.89 was found in his pockets.

Breen saw Lewis enter St. Augustine's Church on Dorchester street as he was patroling his beat. Recognizing Lewis, he waited for him to come out. As he did he accosted him. Lewis ran.

Officer Breen took possession of a passing horse and wagon and gave chase. The horse was not fast enough. An automobile here into sight. Breen jumped from the wagon into the auto, ordering the chauffeur to follow Lewis. After dashing through Broadway and Dorchester street, Breen caught his man in Andrew square.

BIG EMPLOYERS IN QUEST OF MEN

Inspector William J. Burke, in charge of the Information and Distribution Bureau of the Boston Immigration Station, today stated that he had received many requests from manufacturing plants, railroads and other large employers, asking for a large number of men willing to work. Among the requests are several from this section of the country, for a number of green hands, whom they will pay $1.70 a day of eight hours. A Glenbery of Portchester and the Baltimore & Ohio are others looking for help. A year ago today, the State was housing several hundred unemployed men on Commonwealth pier, South Boston.

AMENDMENTS WAIT CONVENTION WORD

That it will be the policy of the Constitutional Amendments Committee of the Legislature to defer action on every proposed change in the Constitution until the Legislature decides whether it will call a Constitutional Convention for 1917, was announced today by Senate Chairman Hull. Under that policy, George R. Washburn, Frederick T. Lyder and John S. Cole agreed to defer their proposed amendment for biennial elections.

WAR SUMMARY

In contrast to vague and conflicting reports about a dim possibility of peace proposals, the official war bulletins tell of a particularly ferocious German thrust at a vital point in the Verdun defences.

The Crown Prince took picked troops—including some of those Bavarian regiments which battered the Russians for Von Hindenburg last Spring—and stormed French positions in the Avocourt wood, about six miles west of the Meuse. Paris says the Germans used liquid fire in this attack. The French claim to have inflicted heavy losses on the Germans, but admit that the Germans captured the Avocourt wood. The Germans were unable, in spite of continued efforts, to carry their lines beyond the wood. German shells are falling on Esnes, an important road centre between Avocourt and the Meuse, and likewise on the Bois de Bourrus. The latter is the first permanent fortification west of the river.

Berlin claims capture of 2,500 French and a lot of war material.

The Austrian garrison which has been holding the fortified bridgehead of Uscieczko on the River Dneister, northwest of Czernowitz, has been driven out by superior Russian forces. There is heavy fighting in the Dvinsk Lake region. For the past two months Petrograd dispatches have been forecasting a great Russian offensive. The new developments in the eastern theatre may be the beginning of it.

Holland takes Berlin's denial of responsibility for the sinking of the Tubantia pretty much in a Pickwickian sense. The Hollanders are reported as almost mad enough to fight, and that, according to Washington gossip, may be just what Berlin is aiming at. The explanation accompanying this report is that Germany would not mind a pretext to get control of the Scheldt and add to her war territory.

ARTILLERY DUEL UPON VERDUN FRONT

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI,
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

Paris, March 22.—No infantry action was launched by the Germans during the night on the Verdun front, but they opened a violent artillery bombardment in the region of Malancourt, east of Hill No. 304. It is apparently the Germans' intention to attempt the capture of this height in order that they may fully dominate Dead Man's Hill, where the French thus far have successfully resisted them.

The official communique issued this afternoon says:

"West of the Meuse there was a very violent artillery duel east of Hill No. 304. The bombardment was particularly violent against Mamelon and Haucourt.

"East of the Meuse there was an intense bombardment in the region of Vaux and Damloup. No infantry action occurred during the night.

TELL OF CAPTURES.

"West front—In our attacks on March 2 northeast of Avocourt and subsequently during the taking of trenches outside the wood the number of prisoners captured by us reached fifty-eight officers and 2,914 men.

"Artillery activity on both sides of the Meuse has continued with great violence, but is now having temporary spells of weakening.

"At Oberspet the French attacked in an attempt to make up for their check on February 12, but were repulsed with sanguinary losses.

"Three enemy aeroplanes were put out of action north of Verdun, two of them descending behind our lines northeast of Samogneux. The third crashed to the earth in flames behind the enemy's lines.

"East front—The vigor of the Russian offensive is increasing. The points of attack are more numerous and at some places the assaults have been continued with interruption throughout the day and night. Just now the strongest pressure is being exerted against our positions at the northern end of the front, northwest of Postavy, where the Russian losses have been extraordinarily high.

"During a sucessful counter attack at a spot where the Russians had made small inroads in our lines we captured eleven officers and 575 men. In other engagements south and southeast of Riga, near Friedrickstadt, south of Duenaburg (Dvinsk), north of Widzy and between the lakes of Narroch and Wisniew, we repulsed the enemy with great losses.

COMBAT RUSSIANS.

"Six hundred prisoners were taken in the fighting at those points and at no section were the Russians able to gain any success. Our losses were slight."

The new drive from the northwest marks the opening of the second month of the campaign against Verdun. The Germans during that period have gained from five to ten miles on all sides of the fortress, and have captured more than 50,000 prisoners and a large number of cannon.

Their losses, according to French estimates, approximate 500,000, though Berlin officially asserts that they are comparatively small. The French losses are about one-third of the German, it is believed.

127 SUBMARINES TAKEN BY ENGLAND

Washington, March 22.—One hundred and twenty-seven submarines have been captured by the British navy since the outbreak of the European war, according to information from the British Admiralty which has reached United States coast guard officers.

London, March 22.—Protest against the seizure of United States securities was made in the Foreign Office today by W. H. Page, the American ambassador.

Ambassador Page declared that he was acting in behalf of the American consignees of the securities and set up the claim that the British government had no right to hold up the stocks and bonds because they constituted a bona fide neutral consignment.

It is estimated that between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 worth of American securities have been seized.

Parachute Drop Saves Officer in Runaway Balloon

By International News Service.

Paris, March 22.—A dramatic parachute descent from an altitude of 12,000 feet by a French officer, who was carried skyward by a runaway observation balloon, is described in the following dispatch received from the Verdun front today:

"The balloon was one which was helping direct the French artillery fire at Verdun. A German shell cut the cable and the balloon shot skyward, drifting in the direction of the German lines. The officer destroyed all his papers, attached a parachute to his waist and leaped from the basket. By that time the balloon had drifted beyond the reach of the naked eye and it wasn't until the soldiers saw a speck descending that they realized what had happened. The officer in telling the story said:

"'After jumping I fell like a stone for the first fifty yards and then became almost motionless. My parachute had unfolded and I began to descend very slowly.

"The wind was blowing me over the German lines, but I managed to alight 300 yards from their trenches. The descent occupied twenty minutes, and during the last 100 yards the German bullets flew around me, but I was not hit."

MASS CZAR'S DIVISIONS FOR NEW ATTACK ON TEUTONS

By International News Service.

London, March 23.—Powerful attacks carried out with great forces of men, have given the Russians possession of the bulwark position of the Austrians northeast of Czernowitz, the bridgehead of the Dneister at Mikhalatch.

The capture of this important fortification, the first result of the Russian offensive in the south, is announced, simultaneously with a Berlin admission that the German salient south of Lake Narocz, in the Dvinsk region, has been driven in by the Russians.

On both the northern and southern wings the Russians are reported employing huge masses of men in their attacks, while further large concentrations are semi-officially said to be under way in Southern Poland.

PLAN NEW DRIVE.

It is said that the next Russian move will be a terrific drive on the front, stretching from Czartorysk to Kovel, the scene of much heavy fighting in the early Winter. That the Russian preparations herald a general offensive from the Baltic to Bukowvina, with the coming of Spring, is the opinion of high military men here.

The loss of the Mikhalatch bridgehead was admitted in an official statement from Vienna. The position had been held by the Austrians for months under the greatest difficulties. With the launching of the new Russian offensive the Austrian defenders were hemmed in on every side, with their defenses shattered by Russian artillery and mining operations.

When he saw that the position could be held no longer, the Austrian commander, Colonel Pflancks, endeavored to retire by means of transports on the Dniester. They were taken under the Russian fire, and some containing wounded were sunk. The Austrian officers then decided on the hazardous expedient of leading his men through the Russian lines under cover of night.

RUMANIA MAY MOVE.

After many hardships and considerable losses they succeeded in their aim, reaching their comrades at Zale Szczyky, north of Czernowitz.

It is felt in diplomatic circles that the new Russian offensive will result in the speedy entrance of Rumania into the war on the allies' side. Several Rumanian leaders are now on the Russian front watching the development of the campaign.

The Germans claim to have inflicted heavy losses on the advancing Russians on the northern wing about Dvinsk.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a listless look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Doctor Says Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People 200% in Ten Days

In many instances—Persons have suffered untold agony for years doctoring for nervous weakness, stomach, liver or kidney disease or some other ailment when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood. —How to tell.

New York, N. Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. E. sayre, Specialist, of this city said: If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The second iron is strength and endurance and enjoy life as you should. Nuxated Iron will do this for you, as it has done for thousands of others, after they had in some cases, been doctoring for months without any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders, wealth or pleasure in life, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good health. To put color in your cheeks and good solid, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The real trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron the ancient mixture of iron, rust acquire, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and bowels and embittered and for these reasons frequently did more harm than good. But since the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, when taken as directed, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE: The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unlimited confidence in its power that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength one hundred per cent. or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also if they will submit their method to any man in which Nuxated Iron does not, at least quadruple their strength in five days' time. It is dispensed by druggists and is guaranteed to satisfy and give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Nuxated Iron is sold in this city by leading druggists and in all cities.—Advertisement.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. —Advertisement.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

Give "California Syrup of Figs" if cross, bilious or feverish.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, won't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipation, poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

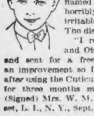
Mother can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrup. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs", then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

CHILD SUFFERED UNTOLD AGONY

With Rash on Arms and Limbs. Burned and Itched Horribly. Disfigurement Was Awful.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT



"My son was affected with a rash which covered his arms and limbs and annoyed him very much. The breaking out was in blotches which would burst and bleed, and the child suffered untold agony. The skin was very sore and inflamed and burned and itched horribly. He was cross and irritable and slept very little. The disfigurement was awful.

"I read a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent for a free sample. I noticed an improvement so I purchased more and after using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three months my boy was healed." (Signed) Mrs. W. M. Mann, Rot 32, Syosset, L. I., N. Y., Sept. 24, 1915.

FUGITIVES HUNTED BY BIG POLICE SQUAD AT PROVIDENCE

Providence, March 22.—Fifty armed patrolmen today scoured the woods between this city and Cranston in search of the four still unrecaptured prisoners who fled with eleven others while being transferred from the Providence Superior Court House to the Cranston jail yesterday afternoon.

The sixteen men made their break for liberty while being removed to the jail in a big four-horse van. In their sudden outbreak they first overpowered Deputy Sheriff G. Rain Tillinghast and Deputy Sheriff Nathan Colvin, their two custodians.

Tillinghast was first felled beneath a rain of blows and then shot through the neck by a bullet from his own pistol. He is reported dying at the Rhode Island Hospital.

Colvin was knocked unconscious when suddenly hurled from the back of the van, and then brutally beaten over the head with a blackjack. He is at his home in a serious, though not dangerous, condition.

ELEVEN QUICKLY RETAKEN

Eleven of the escaped prisoners were recaptured within a few hours after the attempted wholesale break. The other five, including five of the alleged ring-leaders, are now believed to be hiding in the Cranston woods.

There were thirty-one prisoners in the van when the trouble occurred. Fifteen refused to attempt escape. Among these was Rose Gibault, the only woman in the party.

Under the latter's leadership the fifteen who refused to flee hurried to the assistance of the overpowered and injured keepers. Though handicapped by their handcuffs they carried the wounded officers into a nearby house and assisted in calling physicians. They then entered the van and allowed the driver to resume his trip to the jail.

The thirty-one prisoners had just been indicted by the Grand Jury for various minor and petty misdemeanors. Owing to their unusual number it was decided to transfer them to the jail in the big van rather than in the smaller prison wagons. It was planned to thus facilitate their removal.

GUARD TAKEN UNAWARES.

The two deputy sheriffs went along as their only guard. Tillinghast sat up front with the driver. Colvin sat in the rear.

The trip from the court house to the jail covers about eight miles. Throughout the earlier part of the journey the men sang and jested boisterously, the officers making no effort to interfere. When the van reached a lonely stretch of road about a mile from the jail, however, the singing abruptly ceased.

As though at some prearranged signal sixteen of the prisoners thereupon suddenly turned upon the unsuspecting deputies. Tillinghast was yanked backward into the van and fell upon half a dozen men. Colvin was thrown bodily into the floor.

Overwhelmed by numbers, the officers were helpless to defend themselves. Quickly both were disarmed and relieved of their keys. One man fell upon Colvin with a blackjack, while other seized Tillinghast's pistol and deliberately shot the latter through the neck.

SPRING STILL HERE. SNOW DUE TONIGHT

BULLETIN (OFFICIAL).

Biddeford, Me., March 22.—The groundhog has been caught. The groundhog is held responsible for the ferocious weather. He was caught by sixteen-year-old Freeman J. Googins, who threw snow in the animal's face until it could not see. This show variation of "putting salt on its tail" is considered unusually fitting in the case of the groundhog. The animal is now in a cage, pending suitable sentence. The groundhog's record this Winter has been a sad one and there is a popular demand to "make the punishment fit the crime."

In further proof that Spring has come the weather bureau issued the following forecast:

For Boston and vicinity: "Snow tonight; Thursday fair and colder; east to north gales."

That's only for Boston. For northern New England the weatherman is a trifle more gaudy, forecasting thus:

"Snow tonight, Thursday local snows and colder; strong northeast to north winds; probably gales."

Cold cheers from the coal dealer and plumber.

Snow began to fall at 11 a. m., not waiting for the night time set by the weatherman. It was Boston's twenty-sixth snowstorm for this Winter. Railroad and trolley men hailed the snow with language adequate to the occasion, so far only expurgation and environment qualified them.

ORDER PROSECUTION FOR TOBACCO FRAUD

By International News Service.

Washington, March 22.—Criminal prosecution of manufacturers and retailers arrested and to be arrested in connection with the tobacco frauds uncovered by the Internal Revenue Bureau has been decided upon.

In addition to the seizure of tobacco, factories and the stocks of goods of the men alleged to be involved, jail sentences for perpetrating a fraud against the Internal Revenue will be sought.

Meantime agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau are preparing to make further raids in various parts of the country.

"This colossal fraud extends to every internal revenue district in the United States," it was explained at the Treasury today.

"It would be extremely difficult to estimate how many millions the government has been robbed of during the past fifteen years, but an attempt will be made to recover every dollar which can be wrung from the men found guilty. The fraud seemed to have been carried on by unanimous consent of the trade."

SWITCHMEN'S UNION ASKS 8-HOUR DAY

New York, March 22.—The Switchmen's Union of North America, with headquarters in Buffalo, today served thirty days' notice on the railroads, asking for an eight-hour day at the same pay they are receiving now for ten hours' work. Thirteen railroads are affected by the demands.

A Message to Thin Weak Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 Pounds Of Solid, Healthy Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, underfed men and women everywhere are heard to say: "I can't understand why I do not put on flesh, as I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge ravenous and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. A scientific way of working to overcome this sinful waste of food-building elements and to stop the headache of fats is to try Sargol, the famous flesh-building agent that has been used by thousands in America in recent years. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and see if your cheeks don't quickly fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh don't appear, covering each bony angle and projecting point. All good druggists have Sargol or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces, as stated on the particular 50-cent size package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NOTE.—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder, and while it naturally results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

Tried Various Kidney Remedies, But Only One Proved Reliable

It is with great pleasure that I write these lines of praise for your wonderful kidney and bladder remedy. I had kidney trouble so bad I became very much alarmed. I had tried various kidney remedies I heard of but without relief. I was about discouraged of ever being helped, when, one day I picked up a book containing testimonials of people who had been helped and cured of their kidney trouble by the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, so I decided to try it and I know I owe my present good health to the wonderful curative power of Swamp-Root. I sincerely hope my words will be the means of restoring many other sufferers of kidney and bladder troubles to good health.

Very truly yours,
B. J. FENSTERMAKER.
1491 Roycroft Ave., Lakewood, O.

Personally appeared before me this 18th day of October, 1915, B. J. Fenstermaker, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact. WM. J. KLOTZBACH, Notary Public.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soap's and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

A Woman Going to California Alone or With Children

Every woman, I don't care how competent and independent she is, feels a little more at ease, when traveling alone, or with children, if she can rely on a responsible official, paid to look after her comfort and convenience.

That's a special feature of our "Personally Conducted" Parties to California.

Join one. It's the best way to travel, especially for women if comfort, interest, safety and very moderate cost are to be taken into account.

The cost of it all is surprisingly low.

If you will write, or drop in at the office, and see me, I will be glad to explain every detail of the famous "Personally Conducted" Parties.

LYNN GENERAL ELECTRIC MEN GET BONUS

The General Electric Company at West Lynn has announced that all employes working for the company more than five years will receive a 5 per cent. bonus on their salaries on August 1. Another bonus of 5 per cent. will be given the employes on February 1, 1917.

The entire distribution will cost the company in its Lynn plants in the neighborhood of $500,000 and affects almost 7,000 of the 15,000 employes. It was also announced that the employes of the Pittsfield plant, 6,000 in number, and the Schenectady plant, where 20,000 are employed, will also benefit by a similar bonus system.

General Manager Walter C. Fish, in making the announcement, stated that the company had inaugurated the new dividend system as a reward for the deligence and skill of the employes whose efforts have been responsible in a large measure for the company's success.

Relief Awaits You! Instantly Stops Dyspepsia, Gases, Sourness, Heartburn—Get Some Now!

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.—Advertisement.

BACKACHE WARNS YOU TO WATCH YOUR KIDNEYS

Do you feel tired and "worn-out"? Are you nervous and irritable? Don't sleep well at night? Have a "dragged-out," unrested feeling when you get up in the morning? Dizzy spells? Bilious? Bad taste in the mouth, backache, pain or soreness in the loins and abdomen? Severe distress when urinating, bloody, cloudy urine or sediment? All these indicate gravel, or stone in the bladder, or that the poisonous microbes which are always in your system have attacked your kidneys.

You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The oil soaks gently into the walls and lining of the kidneys and the little poisonous animal germs which are causing the inflammation are immediately attacked and chased out of your system without inconvenience or pain.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are prepared in correct quantity and convenient form to take, and are positively guaranteed to give prompt relief, or your money will be refunded. Get them at any drug store, but be sure to insist on the GOLD MEDAL brand, and take no other.

Do not delay a minute. Go to your druggist and insist upon his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In 24 hours you will feel renewed health and vigor. After you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two Capsules each day so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of future attacks. Money refunded if they do not help you. Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand and thus be sure of getting the genuine.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

NANCY ELY TO MAKE BOW SOON

SOCIETY ATTENDS FIRST LENTEN RECITAL

MISS NANCY ELY.

Miss Nancy Ely, who, as a "balloon salesgirl," was a feature at last year's anti-suffrage fete on the Moses Williams estate in Brookline, will be one of the debutantes to be presented this Fall.

Miss Ely is one of the most vivacious of the sub-debutantes. She is the daughter of Mrs. Charles C. Ely of Sewell avenue, Brookline.

Her sister, Miss Corinna, came out the past Winter and was elected a member of the 1915-1916 Sewing Circle. Miss Ely is a clever dancer and is interested in music.

o o o

Society met today for the first of the series of Lenten recitals that was held at the Copley-Plaza for the appealing charity of the Hillside Farm School for Orphans and Unfortunate Children of Massachusetts.

Among the long list of patronesses were Mrs. Samuel W. McCall, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Mrs. Roger Wolcott, Mrs. William Appleton, Mrs. Bryce J. Allan, Mrs. Charles Van Brunt, Mrs. Frederic J. Cotton, Mrs. Alexander Cochrane, Mrs. J. Sumner Draper, Mrs. Harold W. Dana, Mrs. Allan Forbes, Mrs. Benjamin S. Foss and Mrs. Augustus N. Rantoul.

Dr. James J. Walsh lectured on "War and the Progress of Humanity," before members of the Cecilian Guild at Jordan Hall today. The lecture was the annual subscription entertainment given by the guild to raise money to carry on the work of providing clothes and food for needy infants.

o o o

Mrs. James J. Storrow will speak in Cary Hall, Lexington, tomorrow afternoon, and in the Asbury Chapel in Waltham in the evening, for the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness. Mrs. Barrett Wendell will address the Black and White Club at the home of Miss Alice Thorpe, in Plymouth, on Saturday.

o o o

Mrs. Herbert B. Hosmer, Mrs. Charles O. Tyler, Miss Lucille Eaton Hill, Dr. Evangeline W. Young and Dr. Charles E. Simpson were the speakers today at the sectional conference of the Health Department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, which was held in the vestry of the Unitarian Church in Billerica.

HEAVY EARTHQUAKE IN SOUTH HUNGARY

By International News Service.

Geneva, March 22.—A serious earthquake occurred in southwestern Hungary today, according to a dispatch from Fiume. At Grizane 110 houses were destroyed and 128 damaged. The damage was estimated at $200,000. At Bribir twelve houses collapsed and many more were damaged. It is believed a number of persons were killed.

UNABLE TO CHECK FIRE IN OIL WELLS

Tulsa, Okla., March 22.—Fire was still raging today in the oil fields near Drumright. Twelve wells were sending columns of flames into the air, piercing the mountains of thick black smoke that swept upward from the burning field. Twenty-four derricks have been destroyed and oil men stood by watching the fire, helpless to check its progress. Damage to the field already was estimated at $1,000,000.

200 SAILORS JOIN THE NEVADA HERE

Nearly 200 sailors from the battleship Washington, now at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, arrived in Boston today. They will join the crew of the new dreadnought Nevada at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

PLAN SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN IN CONGRESS

A congressional tea under the auspices of the Massachusetts Woman's Suffrage Association was served today at the Hotel Lenox, attended by 150 representative women from all over the State. The tea was to advance the interests of the suffrage amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Mrs. Frederick P. Bagley, chairman of congressional district meetings, said:

"I would like to ask the gentlemen of the Judiciary Committee why they postponed consideration of woman suffrage until next December. Is not the answer that December comes after the election takes place?

"Politicians have reached the point where they are no longer willing to be known as opposing woman suffrage.

"Let every suffragist send letters and telegrams to the House Judiciary Committee before March 28 and notify each Congressman that the suffragists whose representative he is are looking for his help."

Mrs. Gertrude Halladay Leonard, Mrs. Irene Sullivan Coughlin and Mrs. Gledhower Evans also spoke. Alice Stone Blackwell offered resolutions.

GARDNER'S TOWN IS NEARLY POLICELESS

The town of Hamilton, home of Congressman Gardner, advocate of preparedness, hereafter, will have police protection on Saturday nights and Sunday only. One policeman will constitute the force.

It all came about as a result of the annual town meeting. No appropriation was made for Joseph Merrill, who has been acting as the "force" during the past year. Instead, Alfred Poole, a native, was given the job of looking after things Saturday nights, and was also told to "mosey" around the village on Sunday.

WELLESLEY FIRE DRIVES FAMILY OUT

A brisk blaze in the three-family house at No. 134 Linden street, Wellesley, at an early hour today drove the occupants into the street.

The suite in which the fire started was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Barkes, who have a small child.

The fire department had the fire soon under control and the damage was slight.

WHITE MOTOR CARS TRANSPORT WATER

The first motor wagons ever used to transport water for the United States army are now on the way from Boston to Mexico for use in the campaign against Villa. The White Company furnished the outfit, and motors instead of mules will aid in quenching the thirst of Uncle Sam's boys.

A SAFE FAMILY MEDICINE

Father John's Medicine is Best for Colds, Grip, Sore Throat and Stubborn Coughs and as a Body Builder.

Thousands of Mothers Endorse Father John's Medicine

Father John's Medicine is an old-fashioned family remedy—not a patent medicine, but the prescription of a learned doctor. It is free from opium, morphine, chloroform or poisonous drugs which are found in many of the patent medicines; it contains no alcohol or other stimulants. It is a Food Medicine, pure and wholesome. Father John's Medicine has had more than 50 years' success for colds, grip and throat troubles. It is invaluable as a tonic and body builder and restores weak and run-down systems to health and strength. It nourishes the system and makes flesh.

We want to warn you against the danger in taking medicines which rely on stimulating or nerve-deadening drugs for their effect. They weaken the system and leave you exposed to disease, cause nervous prostration and a craving for drugs.

Father John's Medicine is a safe medicine for all the family; for the children as well as older people, because it does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.—Advertisement.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo develops more joy-power to the pipeful than any other tobacco—why? Because it's the only tobacco made that will not "bite"—nor even try to "bite"—the most sensitive tongue and throat.

Tuxedo is made by the original, secret "Tuxedo Process"—the only process that removes all sting and harshness from tobacco. And the tobacco used in Tuxedo is the ripest, mildest leaf grown—aged 3 to 5 years to delightful fragrance and mellowness.

Tuxedo is widely imitated (did you ever hear of anything original and worth while that wasn't?), but—when you call for a show-down in your pipe, imitation brands will quickly bite their way out and leave you and Tuxedo together in peace.

VOTE PARDON FOR REVERE ASSESSOR

The Pardons Committee of the Governor's Council, after a hearing today, voted to recommend a pardon of Samuel A. Segee, former chairman of the Revere Board of Assessors, now serving a three-year term at Deer Island for forgery.

As the Pardons Committee composes five members, a majority of the Governor's Council, it is expected that Segee will be pardoned late today.

Segee has served about a year and a half of his sentence. He was convicted on the charge of falsifying the books of the Board of Assessors.

Those who appeared favoring the pardon, testified that Segee is in failing health, and it is felt that his mental anguish has been sufficient punishment. He is sixty-three years old, and has been an inmate of the hospital at the island for nearly a year.

A letter was read from District Attorney Pelletier stating that clemency might well be granted.

Mayor Arthur H. Curtis of Revere favored the pardon. Mr. Barry submitted a petition that contained the names, he said, of all the Revere city officials and many of the registered voters of that city.

The Pardons Committee voted to recommend the commutation of sentence of John L. Nixon, serving a fifteen-year sentence in the State Prison. He was convicted on the charge of assault with intent to kill a jeweler named Bloomberg on Washington street in 1911. Henry Fitzgerald, who confessed to wounding Bloomberg, has stated that Nixon had no part in the planning of the robbery.

RICHARDS SAYS EXPULSION PUT STIGMA ON HIM

Beals asking me to submit facts in writing I went to Mr. Stockton's office, told him I did not want to get into a controversy with the club, that I had completed my work and wished to drop the matter. I told him I was willing to select two members and let Mr. Keats do likewise, and we all would go over the matter thoroughly. Mr. Stockton said he had no authority to do this.

"I found that prices paid for furnishings were ten and 200 per cent. in excess of normal. In answer to a letter, on May 11, asking for specific charges, I submitted a document to Mr. Fearing. I said as I did so: 'I've been ordered to deliver this to you.' He said he was authorized to accept them in the absence of the secretary and President.

In reply to a question from Attorney Feeley, Mr. Richards said he had not, up to that time, charged Keats with misappropriation.

Referring to hearings on his charges, Mr. Richards testified:

"I asked President Morison if I could bring in witnesses, and he said I could bring them in one at a time. Therefore I told my witnesses they need not wait longer. I read to President Morison my charges of misappropriation against Keats. I suggested that four members of the club be named to hear the proceedings against me, and was told to sit down.

On May 19 I got a letter from Secretary Beals asking that I resign from the club before May 22. I refused, and on May 21 got a letter notifying me of my expulsion.

In cross-examination by Attorney Hunt Mr. Richards was asked:

"Did you say to Mr. Youngman, 'I'll get Keats or some members of the governing committee'?" Mr. Richards said he had said nothing of the sort. Asked if he had talked with District Attorney Pelletier about the matter he said he had not.

MAJ. HIGGINSON ROUSES BUNKER HILL BOYS

Major Henry L. Higginson, speaking today at the third luncheon of the teams soliciting funds for the new Bunker Hill Boys' Club building, made a stirring appeal for the boys of Charlestown. To the team captains he said:

"Do not be afraid to ask adequate sums. Five dollars is not enough; ten dollars is too little. It is by the hundreds and by the five hundreds that this sum of $175,000 is to be raised.

"You are not asking for yourselves. Contributors are doing you personally no service; they are assisting in making American citizens who will be intelligent and wise enough to keep this country safe from the kind of hell which is going on over in Europe."

The sum of $6,925 was reported as pledged since yesterday.

Harris G. Leroy and his team returned in pledged $2,510, and Lombard Williams came second with $650. Arthur E. McCarthy was third with $500.

DR. M'LAUGHLIN FOR DRASTIC MILK LAW

Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin, State Commissioner of Health, today committed himself to a drastic policy of State supervision over the production, care, transportation and distribution of milk in the interest of public health.

A bill vesting complete authority over the milk situation in the State Department of Health was submitted by Dr. McLaughlin today to the legislative Committees on Agriculture and Public Health.

The bill provides that the Health Department, after public hearings, may frame any "reasonable" regulations with the view to securing sanitary conditions for the production and distribution of milk.

It allows the department to establish grades of milk, based upon the butter fat content, the sanitary conditions of the dairies, and the bacterial content of milk before and after pasteurization. It allows the local boards of health, subject to the control of the State Board, to require that all milk shall be graded, "whenever the interests of public health shall render it necessary and advisable so to do."

The local boards may also require pasteurization of milk. The sale of repasteurized milk is forbidden.

The bill provides that if a local Board of Health refuses to enforce the regulations prescribed, the State Board may step in and take entire charge of the local situation. Local boards are also provided with authority to request the State Board to assume control at any time.

The city or town which fails to enforce the regulations would be subjected to a penalty of not less than $10 a day for each day's failure. The bill appropriates $16,000 for the State Department to begin enforcement of such regulations as it may adopt. It will become effective June 1, if passed by the Legislature.

Dr. McLaughlin was brought to this State to take charge of the Health Department by former former Governor Walsh. He began a comprehensive study of the milk situation a year ago. The bill he filed today is the result of that investigation.

PRISON BOARD BILL TO BE REPORTED

A bill to reorganize the prison commission and parole boards will be reported in the Legislature by the special committee appointed to consider Governor McCall's sweeping recommendations for the abolition and consolidation of the State boards and commissions.

A majority of the committee has agreed to the essential provisions of the bill as follows:

A prison commissioner, to be appointed by the Governor at a salary not to exceed $6,000 a year, to take the place of the present Prison Commission, which consists of a chairman and four unpaid members.

An advisory board of five unpaid members, two of whom shall be women, to be appointed by the Governor to assist the prison commissioner.

The bill abolishes the parole boards for the State prison, the reformatory for women and the Massachusetts reformatory, and would substitute a parole board of three with salaries not to exceed $1,200 a year each.

The bill allows the Prison Commissioner to appoint three deputies at salaries to be determined.

BOSTON SPEEDER FINED IN LYNN

"You Boston autoists believe when you strike Lynn that you are out in the woods, but you find that you are not. You will have to observe the traffic rules here as elsewhere." With this statement Judge Lummus of the Lynn court fined Blanchard Shriner of Boston $25 for overspeeding.

Shriner pleaded with the judge to reduce his fine to $10, which Judge Lummus said he would do, if the prisoner could prove that he was too poor to pay $25. Shriner replied that he could not, and paid the $25, put on his fur overcoat, worth about $200, and departed.

WHY FOSS DROPPED PROHIBITION PLAN

J. G. Gordon of Brookline, executive secretary of the Republican National Prohibition League, said today, in regard to the failure of former Governor Foss to file nomination papers for delegate-at-large to the Republican National convention, that Foss believed that "if the Cushing-Gardner combination had resolved to remain in the field and contest for delegates in every district, it would not be a favorable opportunity to present the national prohibition issue in Massachusetts."

CONFERENCE ON FREIGHT PROBLEMS

For the purpose of discussing relief for the chaotic conditions of freight delivery in Boston, President Louis K. Liggett of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and several large shippers on the Merchants & Miners' line met officials of that line at 2 o'clock today at the Chamber.

The system now followed in Baltimore by the Merchants & Miners' was discussed, as this is believed to be the solution of Boston's problem.

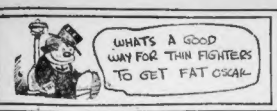
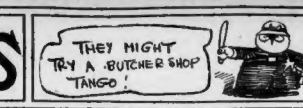
Time Is Valuable Only to the Man Who Knows How to Make Valuable Use of It



BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS



Bill Sweet on McHale
Pennock Shows Form

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 22.—The first real practice game, now forming a bit of baseball history, the boys on the World's Champions are getting into their stride for the real rounding out of the Spring training.

Manager Carrigan will stage a contest of this kind each day from now until Sunday when the Champions meet the Pirates in an exhibition contest at Whittington Park.

Guests from the different hostelries have trumped out to see the world-beaters and are loud in their comment on the fact that President Lannin has not charged for admission. In this way the people interested in baseball feel more or less of an obligation to the club, so that when there is a chance there is likely to be a good crowd in attendance.

HERR, BARNEY IS CHARGING.

The charging of an admission to see the Regulars and the Yanigans has been an old thing here, Pittsburgh always getting the money. There is nothing new in baseball except the score.

Summer weather continues to prevail and this is putting the boys in great condition. Ruth's left whip is a bit tame at present, Bader, too, is tied up. Janvrin's injury is not as serious as at first expected and he will be out with the men in a day or so.

The cub pitchers have been tried and their work so far is not alarming. Still, it is early yet to get a line on them. The team is a hard-hitting organization, so this may account for the liberal sprinkling of hits against them.

McHale has shown much "stuff" and appears to be getting stronger each day. Bader got away with three nice innings yesterday. Agnew was the only man to connect safely off his slants. Sam is a live wire and is stinging the ball on the nose.

PENNOCK HAS IMPROVED.

Pennock has about everything a pitcher should have except control and it looks as if he was getting down to a point where he could handle himself with credit. Anderson is a bit nervous at times and this in a measure accounted for the drubbing he received at the hands of the Regulars. He is a good prospect.

Herrick is being used as the regular left fielder and covers lots of ground. He hasn't cut loose yet on the throw in, nor has he been called upon to do so. Lewis brought his batting eye South with him, it having escaped being dimmed by the footlights. Barry is the same old Barry and he is going to hit the ball right on the line.

The Regulars look like a well-oiled machine as they show right now. The errors are more of over confidence than anything else, and in a few days the wings will be in shape for the sharp throws and then the class will show.

SCOTT ALREADY ON STRIDE.

Scott is shaping up well and is getting some exercise on the bases. He took a chance with Thomas yesterday and made it slick for an extra base hit. Haley is a promising catcher who at this early stage has his eye open for the stuff handed up to him. He cuts the ball down the third base line or out to left field on a line.

The boys left the hotel this morning at about 10.30 o'clock, in their heated car, and the work in preparation for the actual games was put through in good style. The pitchers warmed up, while the others in the squad worked out at the batting game.

The workouts so far have put the team in far better condition than it was this time last Spring. The prospects are the weather will continue as it has been, warm and sunny.

HORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

Miami, Fla., March 22.

I'M glad the games with the teams down in this vicinity are over and the prospects of a series with a regular club are in sight. The locals don't even come up to the old New England Leaguers, and provide anything but good practice for us.

* * *

THIS town is certainly baseball mad. Yesterday Business Manager Happgood received "copy" for advertisements in the scorecards for the series with Connie Mack's men which filled the back inside of two hours. This is certainly one of the most profitable trips into the South a major league club has ever made.

* * *

FROM what Hank Gowdy, as well as some of the newspaper men, told me, I am absolutely honoring in not making the trip to the everglades with them yesterday. While they did not see any alligators or snakes, they saw things growing that were well worth viewing, they say. I'm going to make the trip sometime before we leave.

* * *

BOSTON visitors continue to arrive. Yesterday Dr. Charles M. Whelan got in and will be a constant visitor at our park for the next several days. He is an old friend of President Haughton's, and, being in the South for a rest, decided to visit us for a time.

I HAVE known him for several years and know that if he tells Bill James anything it will be pretty close to the right info. He favored Haughton by examining Bill's bum whip after yesterday's practice. He has already advised James what to do and some good may come from his tip.

BIG BILL told me this morning he now feels confident of ultimate recovery. He says the rest he has been taking of late has not hurt him in the least. Confidence should help him to recover, and I think that he is at last on the right track.

DISTANCE CRACKS ENTER APRIL 8 RUN

Jimmy Henrigan, the veteran tenmiler, and Robert Briggs, Dorchester Club, are among the notes, principals sending in their entries for the Cathedral Y. M. C. A. run April 8. Henrigan won last year's race. Coach McVicker has informed Manager Nolan he expects to enter a large aggregation of Dorchester Club boys, and the Newton Y. M. C. A. has written on for entry blanks.

EAGAN IS HERO OF HIP GO

Makes Mike Glover Do a Lot of Missing, Has Slight Shade at Boxing, and Gains Draw.

STEPPING just as deftly as Mike Glover, conqueror of Ted (Kid) Lewis, the lurruping Londoner, world's premier welterweight; landing clearly the most number of blows; shading the New England champion a trifle in the out and out boxing, clean scoring and the like, Joe Eagan, the Dorchester battler, heretofore not considered anything like a Class A glovesman, caused more or less of a consternation among the biff colony by traveling the twelve rounds to a draw with his more illustrious foe at the Hippodrome last night.

Eagan was the real hero of the battle. While Referee Phil Powers' verdict of a dead heat was voted eminently proper by the big bulk of the best posted ring enthusiasts present, truth it is that as the bout dissects Glover got all that was coming to him.

Mike didn't hit true enough to gain the award. Powers might have adjudged Eagan the victor without being far wrong. At that, the draw, with everything summed up and a total strung right, Eagan undoubtedly had 5 per cent. on Glover. But that was all; the mere "nod," to borrow a race track expression, scarcely enough to have had him proclaimed the winning nominee and taken the crown away from a gallant champion.

HIP PACKED TO DOORS.

The Glover-Eagan battle, a corker from first to last, though sans any knockdowns, claret or real punishment, was viewed by one of the greatest throngs that has ever attended a ring encounter in Boston—or any place else for that matter. Not only was the Hip packed from pit to gallery, jammed to the extreme limit, but from 2,000 to 2,000 "members" who put off until the last minute before seeking their assessment cards, never got inside the structure.

As they say in the showing world, it was "a turnaway." Tremont street, in front of the Hip, from 7 p. m. until well on to 9, when the "jam" realized it had no chance to get inside, bore a strict resemblance to the exterior of Fenway Park that Saturday afternoon last September when the Red Sox and Tigers went to war in their big diamond battle.

WRONG WEIGHTS ANNOUNCED.

Though the weights of the rival boxers were announced as 142, some fudging was done there, Glover is never that light, while Eddie Kane, Eagan's clever manager, who has credit galore coming for making a near-champion out of a former careless training, semi-wingo and "hush town" fighter, said his charge came in around 147 and that Mike's weight was probably about on a par.

Glover was showing in Boston for the first time in over three months. In his last previous start he whipped "Soldier" Barthell. Since then he has been ill, spending the greater part of a month indoors. Still, perish the thought he's through; that he's never going to be his good self again.

Glover was physically right last night. George Freeman said he would have him on high and he made good his claim. Glover was right, likewise ready. He merely didn't with because he bumped into a fighter in Eagan, whom possibly he has been underrating.

In the semi-windup Lightweight "Billy" Nixon, making his first start in a long while, boxed rings around George Brooks, who substituted for Johnny Noonan, and made that youth retire in the middle of the second canto. Brooks made it a poor go by refusing to hustle. There was lots of action in the two six-rounders. Frankie Simmons gamely knocked out Tommy Stanton in the fourth, after getting off to a bad start, while four rounds were enough for Eli Valley in his contest with Jimmy Ferguson, though the first round was all in Eli's favor.

SPORTING NEWS NOTES OF SCHOOLS

* * *

Roxbury Latin's interclass meet, carded for tomorrow, has been put over until April 1, when it is hoped the board track will be in better condition.

* * *

Manager Cross of the Tufts' nine announces that the 25-cent tax for home games will be continued. Mr. Slattery's quad is cruising on Tea toss, and it looks like another starry team. Rockwell, formerly of Commerce High, figures up as a pert pitching prospect.

* * *

Kimball Atla and Austin H. Williams will be two of Exeter's starters on the track relays. Both scored at the time trials, which remain unbroken.

* * *

* * *

Groton School plays its first baseball game April 8. Noble & Greenough will be its foe.

* * *

The juniors of the Brookline gym flayed the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. "rooks," 7 to 5, in a basketball slaughter. Darling, Sundell, Wood, Prendergast and Richardson swapt the card for Brookline.

* * *

Captain Parsons of the Newburyport High nine has been suspended from school by Principal Dana C. Wells.

* * *

Report has it Sid Gould and Joe Waters, two of Andover's best athletes, have left the academy to enter the tutoring school at New Haven to prepare for Yale.

* * *

Springfield High wants Boston Latin to meet it in an eight-oared race in May. Huntington School rows S. H. June 2 or 3.

* * *

"Sport night," at the Cabot st. gym., Roxbury, was a big success. Oliver John J. Harney and John Maher won their hundred clash from Bert and James O'Brien of the New England title. J. Kolke and A. Birch annexed the wrestling bouts.

Harvard Club On With Speedy Club Team

If the Arena Hockey Club is to be stopped in its march for the hockey championship of Boston, a task is before the B. A. A. tonight at the Arena when it meets the Harvard club.

To be turned back again by the Crimson would practically give the title to the pink team, and for this reason Captain Freddie Huntington has mustered together his full strength.

Ollie Chadwick may be in goal for Harvard. This crack goal tend, perhaps the best in the country, decided a few weeks ago he would retire, but this will be his last chance to take a crack at his old teammates he is expected to don the big guards and help out.

Kilbane Wants Welsh to Have Card Changed

New York, March 22.—Johnny Kilbane, who meets Harry Donohue at the Harlem Sporting Club Friday night, is in New York and announced he will give Freddie Welsh $2,000 to swap punches with him.

"That is," said the champion featherweight, "I will give Welsh $2,000 if he consents to box me instead of Frankie Whitney, and let Whitney meet Donohue, whom I am to box."

Kilbane went to Dal Hawkins' place and will train with Frank Moran for his bout. Frankie Whitney, the Cedar Rapids, Ia., lightweight, is preparing at Rothner's gym. Welsh, who never neglects his work, will doubtless be in his usual good condition.

Matty Hurt by Hot Slap from Dooin's Bat

Marlin, Tex., March 22. — Christy Mathewson was injured in the practice game between two teams of Giants, the Mattys and McGraws.

He pitched six innings for the team bearing his name and got along famously until a hard drive from Dooin's bat split the little finger of his right hand. The Mattys won, 9 to 7. Big Six held the opposition to one run during his service on the slab.

NEW YORK WINNERS COMING TO BOSTON

New York, March 22.—The winners of the amateur boxing bouts to be held at the N. Y. A. C. starting tonight will not only win titles, but will also receive expenses to compete in the national championships in Boston. A record army of seventy battlers has entered the tournament. The Union Settlement Club leads, with nineteen entries.

BIG MAT CRACKS CLASH

Banner Wrestling Show of Season On Boston's Sport Menu Tonight; Four Star Pairs Clash.

"STRANGLER ED" LEWIS, the noted Kentucky wrestler, reports himself in great shape for his encounter with Hilmer Johnson, the Swedish heavyweight, which forms one of the big numbers in tonight's mat carnival in Mechanics building.

"This is my first appearance in Boston," said Lewis to the AMERICAN today, "and if I win over Johnson nothing would suit me better than to get another crack at Joe Stecher. We have already battled over two hours without result. If Stecher is as anxious to wipe out that affair as I am, it will not take George Tuohey five minutes to arrange the match."

The rest of the grapplers have finished their training and all report themselves in tip-top shape. Promoter Tuohey, because of the extreme jealousy among the competitors, is keeping the order of events to himself.

The pairs will be Lewis vs. Johnson, Americus vs. Darro, Zbyszko vs. Hevumpaa and Lemle vs. Leavitt. All matches will be to a finish, catch-as-catch-can variety.

ARENAS AT NEW HAVEN.

Coach Roeque of the Arena Hockey Club will take a full squad of fourteen men to New Haven for tonight's game with the Arena seven of that city. "Spider" Fynan is carded to play for New Haven.

Work for Bill James
Dr. Whelan Orders It

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

MIAMI, Fla., March 22.—This morning "Big Bill" James, pride of Oroville, Cal., started in earnest to carry out the instructions given him by President Haughton's friend, Dr. Charles M. Whelan of Hingham, Mass., coach of the Tufts football team and an old Dartmouth gridiron hero. James is working easily, gradually increasing his speed each day, and likewise adding slightly to the amount of "stuff" he puts on the ball.

Dr. Whelan, who is here on a vacation, examined Bill on Haughton's request. He went over Bill's salary wing thoroughly, and, as has been the case with all the other doctors, failed to find anything wrong with it. He has prescribed work for the big fellow, and, if the wing doesn't respond, Bill will go to Boston and have an X-ray taken by a specialist.

JAMES IS TO STICK.

This morning one fact is a certainty, and that is that "Big Bill" won't be dropped for the time being at least. Both President Haughton and Manager Stallings think the big fellow will come round all right.

Dr. Whelan has the same opinion, and today Bill himself thinks so. He is more confident than ever, after talking with Dr. Whelan, and confidence is generally half the battle.

The Braves and Semiholes are at it once more and tomorrow comes the big show. It is reported that the gate for the Athletic series will be a record-breaker, as gates go at Southern camps. The Mayor of Miami has declared a half-holiday, and the Chamber of Commerce has done the same thing. Already all the box seats have been taken, and the indications are that open will have to be used in the outfield.

SOLDIER NINE SPANKED.

Yesterday's Braves-Fort Lauderdale game was the biggest possible sort of a joke, the score being about 24 to 7 at the end of nine innings. Art Nehf and Pat Ragan did the pitching for the Braves, and, save for one frame, in which Don Carlos Pat eased up, the Florida bunch was always eating from the gloved hands of the Braves.

It's unlikely that any more of the local teams will be played during the life of the present Braves' contract.

Yesterday several of the newspaper men, accompanied by "Hank" Gowdy and Walter Hapgood's son, were whirled about thirty miles out into the everglades in automobiles. Things even unimaginable were seen, and the skeptics were convinced that on this huge tract of reclaimed land almost anything can be grown.

COL. EBBETS PULLS JOHNSTON IN LINE

Chattanooga, Tenn., March. 22.—Jimmy Johnston, holdout outfielder of the Dodgers, has agreed to accept a two years' ironclad contract at $5,000 per. Johnston has been working out here.

The Chattanooga Club today signed Pitcher Gene Krapp, who jumped to the Buffalo Feds from Cleveland.

McCoy Praises Big Jess Has Him Sure Winner

By NORMAN (KID) McCOY,

NEW YORK, March 22.—It was with deep feeling of interest that I wandered over to the Pioneer Club yesterday afternoon to see Jess Willard go through his training. To say I was surprised would put it mildly; I was simply astounded.

The manner in which this Goliath moved about, and the easy way in which he boxed, convinced me he knows all that is necessary to be successful in his line.

Jess Willard is a real champion in the fullest meaning of the word. He is an extraordinary man, and it will take a man slightly better than extraordinary to beat him.

KING FOR ALL TIMES.

If Willard lived in my day, and trained the way the "old timers" did, he would have conquered any man in the game. This is a bold, broad statement, but it is my earnest, honest opinion and rather hard to say, when I think of all the good men in the days when I was fighting.

In his training it strikes me Willard does not exert himself as much as he could. I suppose he lets up considerably for the indisputable reason there is no occasion for him to do any exerting.

By not exerting himself, it appears as if he were rather slow. This I know is not the case. Several times he let loose, and the lightning manner in which his arms shot out and reached the mark, clearly demonstrated that he possesses a good strain of speed, something which is necessary, especially for a ten-round engagement.

CHAMP'S SUPERB DEFENCE.

His sparring partner did not hesitate to swing hard and accurately, but the calm disposition the champion showed after being hit is no evidence the wallops had no bad effect. His idea of compelling his trainers to work fast shows clever judgment, for it makes a man fast unconsciously.

A good defence is just as essential in a fight as a forceful offence. These two necessities are always found in the makeup of a real fighter.

There is not the least doubt that Willard is in perfect shape. Outside of a slight nasal trouble, he breathes easily; in fact, without an effort.

I followed up his training with the greatest interest and can say that it was the correct system. Getting in condition for a ten-round bout is far different than for a long battle.

From the way Willard went about it he is bound to be in the height of form when he enters the ring. Another advantage in his training methods is that it is impossible for him to get stale.

RECALLS HAVANA BATTLE.

There is one fact stamped on my mind that impresses me as to the wonderful ability of Willard. Down in Havana I saw the pictures of his fight with Johnson. It amazed me to see Johnson drive his terrific left to Willard's head and body, and then notice how easily Willard threw his body and let the blow swish through the air. That alone proved to my satisfaction it would take an exceedingly clever man to get in a telling blow.

THE ONE TO HELP WAS PLANT JUICE

Boston Man Relates How He Tried Various Remedies Without Any Benefit.

Stomach trouble is the direct cause of more derangements of the nervous system and general bodily functions than any other ailment. No other remedy has been accorded the instant success that has been obtained by Plant

JOHN J. KELLEY.

Juice, a vegetable combination of Nature's remedies for the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys which is being attested at the introduction of this remedy in Boston, and numbers of signed testimonials are being received daily, telling of the great benefits which have been derived from the use of this wonderful preparation.

Following is the signed testimonial of Mr. John J. Kelley, who resides at No. 41 Snow Street, and is employed by the Boston Street Railway Company as conductor. He says:

"For the past three years I have suffered with catarrh of the head and stomach, indigestion and dyspepsia. My food would sour in my stomach and form gas and I would not keep any solid food in my stomach at all. I was so nervous and restless I could not sleep at night and would get up in the morning just as tired as if I had never gone to bed at all. I had an operation on my head which gave me no benefit, and tried all kinds of medicines in hope of finding relief, but the only medicine which relieved me was Plant Juice, and after taking several bottles I now feel like a new man. All the dreadful trouble I had with my stomach is gone, I sleep well, eat any kind of food and it agrees with me. I only wish I had known of Plant Juice sooner, as it would have saved me hundreds of dollars."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. —Advertisement.

New York, Wednesday, March 22.

I AWOKE at 6 o'clock yesterday feeling nicely refreshed. The delay in arising was caused by what the medicos call "nerves," due to the steady, rigorous training, with nothing to break the monotony. Every time a fighter reaches the pink condition he begins to become an annoyance to everybody around—particularly his trainers.

Monday night I retired early, but did not go to sleep until after 12 o'clock. Once out of the hay this morning we went for a walk. It wasn't the pleasantest of my many walks, but it enabled me to fill my lungs with fresh air.

About 7 o'clock we returned to the hotel. For half an hour I went through my morning work, and, when I finished, I was perspiring freely. I enjoyed a rub, followed by a hot bath.

Being on what may be called a diet, I didn't dare attack anything but a soft-boiled egg menu, with a glass of milk on the side. While mentioning this I will add that Saturday evening around midnight I am going to treat myself to one of the best and heartiest meals any big man ever sat down to.

Entertains Delegation From Home.

A few friends from Kansas were waiting to see me after breakfast, and for an hour we discussed cattle. About 11 o'clock I started off on another walk along Riverside Drive, and showed my friends Grant's Tomb and all the other places of interest. At noon everybody, but myself, sat down to a comfortable repast and an hour later we started for the Pioneer Club.

When I stripped for action I felt like doing a lot of real fighting. For a few minutes I yanked away at the pulleys just enough to limber up my muscles. Then, for a few rounds, I did a little shadow sparring, and when the partners were ready I was cherry ripe.

Jack Hemple climbed through the ropes first. He was all fired up and started off like the Hall of Bashan. He kept his left arm extended a la Moran, and made desperate attempts to wallop me around the body with his right. He did get his right in several times, but I was so far away the blows didn't have the slightest effect.

While all this was going on I had the opportunity to see whether my left worked according to the rule. It struck me that few of my left hooks missed the mark. Hemple went along for two rounds and fought to the limit, but he was more exhausted than I was at the finish.

George Rodel took up the work after Hemple retired, and the Boer went at his task with a will. For two rounds he slugged at me and sometimes hit me. No matter how I stuck my gloves in Rodel's face he wouldn't back up an inch. This was a swift workout and had me in great shape for Monahan.

Though Monahan is my chief trainer he tries harder than the other two boys to slam me. He figures this is the only way to make a man settle down to real work. The two rounds I went along with Walter were thrilling enough for anybody.

Claims He Is Practically at Weight.

Rodel then went on for another round, and, when that was over, he and I pulled and tugged each other all around the ring. This finished, I spent a few minutes developing my abdominal muscles by the floor exercise and bending backward over a sled.

From the way I felt after being rubbed down I am satisfied I am only about one or two pounds from my regular fighting weight. If those few pounds stick it won't worry me, however, for I am in good enough condition to fight any man in the world over any distance.

My real strenuous work will probably wind up today. That is the hard boxing end of the program. Tomorrow I will do some work at the club, but only enough to keep me in good shape.

It may necessitate a little drying out for me the last two days of training, but it will not be arduous because I am so close to my best weight.

Phil Bloom Easy for Welsh in 10-Round Go

By International News Service.

New York, March 22.—Freddie Welsh is still lightweight champion of the world and Al McCoy remains the middleweight champion. In one of the two 10-round bouts at the Broadway Sporting Club, Brooklyn, last night, Welsh jabbed and pounded his way to victory over Phil Bloom.

In the other bout McCoy held Leo Benz of Butte, Mont., to a draw. There were times when McCoy had Benz in fairly bad shape as the result of heavy body blows.

Welsh piled up a fair-sized lead in the early rounds of his bout. He pecked and jabbed away at Bloom with his left and drew the claret in the fourth.

Welsh weighed 137¾ and Bloom 133½.

THREE U. S. BOXERS SCORE IN DENMARK

Christiania, Denmark, March 22.—Three American amateur boxers were victorious in their matches here. John Hits of Philadelphia took first prize in the featherweight class; John Karpenski of Cleveland won the honors in the middleweight class, and William Spengler of New York topped the heavyweights.

HEALTH HINTS
Tired, Aching Feet.

In many thousands of homes Minard's liniment is used often as a sure, quick, effective remedy for sore, tired, aching feet. It is very reliable, brings instant relief and helps the blood circulate, so quickly drives away pain. It cannot burn or blister and does not stain skin or clothing. It is a dependable, creamy liniment for many uses in the home and is sold by druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

MORAN IS AT BEST IN GYM

However, Gloom Fills Challenger's Quarters Owing to the Death of Trainer Lewis' Son.

Later in the day Moran stalked into the ring in Dal Hawkins' gymnasium and went about his work with an earnestness intensified by his grief over the loss of his little friend and mascot.

He boxed a total of four rounds—two with Frank Kendall and two with "Bill" McKinnon, the Boston boy. The challenger went at his sparring partners with a frown on his face, and for the first time since he started training for the Willard bout, a scowl lurked in the corners of his mouth. He said little to those who came to see him work.

He was on the aggressive in his training bouts. He forced the pace throughout. His head hung low, and he risked his jaw on the points of his partners. He boxed with them as he fought Jim Coffey, and, when the day's work was done, Kendall said that Moran was ready—physically and mentally. The challenger showed it.

McKinnon was the first victim of Moran's earnestness. At times McKinnon flails away with both hands quite effectively, but yesterday Moran did the forcing. He staggered McKinnon whenever he wanted to.

Kendall, considerably taller than McKinnon and much heavier, came next. This bout was even faster than the previous one, and when a halt was called, Moran hurried off for a rub down.

He weighed 203 pounds. Moran's workout today will probably be his last before the big bout Saturday night.

JESS WILLARD TO BE DADDY AGAIN

New York, March 22.—It has been learned in this city that Jess Willard is to again become a proud father. The stork is expected to arrive at the Willard home this week. The belief here is the arrival of the stork is responsible for Willard's late start for New York.

Advance Sale Now $115,000; Capacity "House" Assured

NEW YORK, March 22.—The promoters of the Willard-Moran fight announce that $115,000 worth of seats have been sold up to the present time, and expect the house to be completely sold out no later than Friday.

Figuring every seat in Madison Square Garden at its full value, the total "gate" would be $145,500. However, between 300 and 400 of the choicest seats have been set aside for complimentary distribution, which will bring down the total "gate" to about $135,000 to $140,000.

DYNAMITE ICE FOR CORNELL CREWS

Ithaca, N. Y., March 22.—Work on clearing the Cayuga Lake inlet waters of thick ice, which is keeping the Cornel varsity and freshman crews indoors, was begun yesterday when the first blast of dynamite was set off by State Foreman Baldwin and several assistants. The channel will be cleared from the Buffalo street bridge to the mouth of the inlet, a distance of a mile. In the daily practices the varsity is still rowing as follows: Coxyer, stroke; Farmer, 7; Claiborne, 6; Worth, 5; Andrus, 4; Lund, 3; Bird, 2, and Morgan, bow.

GRIDDERS BUSY AT YALE

Tad Jones Orders Spring Practice to StartM ay 1—Picks Assistants Soon

New Haven, Ct., March 22.—Spring football practice at Yale will commence May 1, according to an announcement today by Head Coach "Tad" Jones. An innovation will be a week of hard scrimmage work.

It is probable that early Fall practice will be held at Elmhurst, N. J., instead of at Madison, Ct., as has been customary for several years.

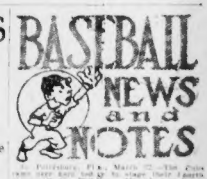
Captain Clinton Black, of the 'Varsity eleven, said today that the first week of May will be devoted to rudimentary drill, while the last two weeks of the month will be given over to actual scrimmaging. Yale has not before attempted scrimmaging at the Spring practice.



Fort Worth, Tex., March 22.—The Tigers and the Fort Worth team of the Texas League is to ask Boston today.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 22.—With the Cubs scheduled second on the Pacific coast training circuit, the Yankees only expect a 5 cent game to their credit next week.

Marlin, Texas, March 22.—The Giant regulars went to Waco today for a game with the club there, while the rest of their team went through the regular training grind with Fall River, Mass.

Daytona, Fla., March 22.—The Dodger regulars and subs had an off day in camp today, on account of the trip to Deland for a game with that town University.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 22.—The Athletics commenced practice in earnest today, when under Captain Davis will play a game this afternoon. Connie Mack and the rest of his All Leaders remained here and enjoyed their vacation.

The Struggles of a Wife

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER X.

Copyrian, 1911, Star Company.

EDITORS of respectable periodicals are, as a rule, gentlemen. Unfortunately, the one to whom Myra Webb offered her work was not a gentleman.

Mr. Lawlor did not glance up as she took the chair assigned her by his stenographer.

"Tell talk to you in a minute," he said gruffly. Then he signed his name to a letter he had been reading and handed it to his clerk, who stood waiting.

"Mail it at once," he ordered.

Wheeling about suddenly, he faced his caller.

"Well," he remarked, "you're Mrs. Webb, I believe. What do you want?"

Had Myra Webb been a younger woman, or less of a lady, the man's manner would have made her stammer or show some timidity. As it was, her breeding stood her in good stead.

"Yes," she replied, gravely and simply. "I am Mrs. Webb. I came to see you about a story I think you may care for for your magazine."

"What's it about?" he demanded.

She gave him a brief outline of her first short story. Before she had finished he interrupted her.

"None of that in ours" he exclaimed. "We don't care for that kind of thing. Sob-stuff's not in our line."

"Even so," she ventured, "perhaps I can write something that you may like. I have several stories and articles in mind."

"What are the subjects?"

Her outward composure did not waver, although her spirits were at ebb-tide, and she felt a well-nigh uncontrollable impulse to jump up and hurry out of the office.

THE MAKES A SUGGESTION

"I have one article here with me," she remarked. "Perhaps you may care to read it later. If so, I will leave it with you."

He took the paper she harded him, unfolded it and ran his eyes down the first page.

"It doesn't look particularly good," he criticized. "I don't care for the subject at all. It's backneyed and done to death already."

She held out her hand for it.

"I thought you were going to leave it for me to read," Mr. Lawlor objected.

"Not if you know already that you don't care for the subject," Myra rejoined with dignity.

"Well, it's just as well for me not to spend time on it, I guess," Mr. Lawlor admitted, handing the manuscript back to her.

She did not reply, and he looked at her keenly for a minute.

"I've been thinking of a certain article I want written," he said at last, musingly. "I wonder if you could do it?"

"Perhaps I could," she answered, inwardly she was feeling that he would suggest something she was equal to writing. It would mean so much to her!

"Well," he went on, "I'll give you a trial. Now I'll tell you what I want."

He threw himself back in his revolving desk chair, so that his feet did not touch the floor, and, swinging from side to side, as a child does on a piano stool, went on to give his ideas on the projected essay.

Myra listened intently, drinking in every word. She would ignore his rough manner, his disagreeable presence, and listen only to what he had to say. And as he talked, she appreciated that this man understood his business. His ideas were clear-cut; he knew just what he wanted, and how to tell others what he wanted.

When he had finished, he looked at her inquiringly.

"Well?" he demanded.

"I will write the article," she responded.

"You know you are to do it on approval only," he reminded her. "We're not bound to take it if we don't like it. And we want thirty-five hundred words—no more."

THE SUBJECT OF PRICE

"I understand," she agreed.

She tried to behave as if she were in the habit of writing to order, or as if she had always considered the number of words in each article she wrote. The idea was a new one to her. She had never before thought of counting words in this way.

"As to payment," Mr. Lawlor went on, "what do you expect?"

She moistened her lips with her tongue before speaking.

"What do you usually pay?" she parried.

He laughed roughly. "That depends! There are some writers to whom we give whopping big prices. To others, whose names don't amount to a hill of beans, we pay very little. If you can do that story as I want it done, I'll give you a cent a word. That's good pay, under the circumstances, for your name doesn't mean a thing.

"I never heard of you before, and 'Myra Webb' in the table of contents won't sell a single copy of the magazine. I'm giving you this chance only because you seem to understand yourself pretty well—and I like to find new writers."

She bowed and rose. "Thank you," she said. "When do you want the article?"

"In a week. Can you do it by then?"

"Yes."

"You must have it here by that time," he explained, "because if it's not what I want, I must get somebody else to do it better."

It was dusk when she reached the street again, for the short days of early Winter were here. She paused a moment in the door of the office building and a sense of desolation swept over her.

"Oh, I can't go through this kind of thing another time!" she murmured. "Good Lord—I can't!"

Then, remembering that it was for her husband and her daughter that she did this thing, she set her teeth and turned her steps toward the uptown subway.

Unique and Effective Pin Money Frocks

To prove that Khaki Kool is not entirely for sports wear, one need only glance at this charming model. The bodice is white and the guimpe is colored organdie to match the stripe on the skirt.

Satin Riviera in black and white is pictured together in such a way that the material looks double-faced. The tulle of the bodice runs under the satin and forms the sleeves.

PRINTED linens make charming trimmings for summer frocks. The idea is cleverly introduced in the Pin Money frocks in the March number of Harper's Bazar.

A tailleur developed either in linen, serge or Palm Beach cloth is a requisite for Summer. A model recently seen was made of white linen with edges and piping of Turkey red and red bone buttons. One could not do better than use such a design for a navy serge and bind it with black silk braid and have black bone buttons. A new idea for a checked gingham is to use striped gingham for trimming. In buying these materials, the stripes should be the same width as the lines of the check.

One of the most desirable of sports materials is La Jerz. This is a silk fabric that looks like jersey but does not stretch and is guaranteed to wash. La Jerz comes in lovely colors and in many beautiful striped combinations to correspond. Sports suit models designed for this material are often developed equally well in Khaki Kool, a heavy washable crepe. This crepe is not only used for all sports garments but is very desirable for afternoon frocks.

A striking dress can be made up of white and gold triped Khaki Kool. A guimpe of yellow organdie and a close-fitting collar of white satin is finished with white and the two colors are joined with picot stitching which gives the effect of a double faced material. It is really the lining of the skirt turned over which forms the tunic and runs through the belt to make part of the bodice.

The Easter Lily is a new touch and is one of the smartest flowers for corsage wear. Another charming evening dress can be developed in white Soiree. This fabric is most desirable, as it launders perfectly if washed with a good white soap and tepid water. When the edges of a Soiree gown, become soiled, they can be cleaned without injuring the rest of the garment.

It is quite like the old times to think of stiffening for skirts, but with the return of the bouffant effect, the interlining becomes important. For tailored costumes where the wired net petticoat is impractical, the new crushless Witchtex might be used with good results.

The Book of the Earth

No More Fascinating Reading Than the Wonderful Chapters of Geology

"I LOVE to read the articles about the different ages and epochs of the earth, but I cannot understand their succession. I wish you would name them, in succession, from the earliest up to the present time, and tell what living beings were in existence and how they are supposed to have lived in each age or epoch.

"C. H. F. L."

THE life history of our world, as far as fossil remains reveal it to geologists, is contained in a series of rock strata, formed one above another, like the layers of an onion. In these strata are buried remains of the living creatures which existed at the time when the materials of which each stratum is composed were laid down. In such a series, of course, the lowest must have been deposited first. Thus the crust of the earth with its successive layers resembles, in some ways, a book lying with its front page downward, the end of the story being at the top.

But this great rock book, unfortunately, has not been well preserved. Its leaves instead of lying undisturbed in their original order have been crumpled, pierced, torn, to such a degree that in many places parts of the bottom leaf have been thrust up to the top, and sometimes huge masses torn out of the book have been shoved back again upside down.

ABLE TO READ IT

Nowhere can a complete series of even a small portion of the leaves be found retaining from top to bottom their proper relative positions. The problem that geologists had to attack when they began to decipher the marvellous history of hundreds of millions of years contained in this shattered volume resembled somewhat that which confronts students of human records when they try to read the inscriptions on broken clay tablets, or to put together fragments of ancient manuscript.

Now, keeping these difficulties in mind, let us see what the interpreters of nature's great rock bible have been able to read.

They find, first, that at the bottom of the book, that lay at its beginning, there is a mass of chaotic material, which seems to have been ground up, dissolved, squeezed out, redeposited and repressed, so that whatever changes may once have been impressed upon it have been destroyed. This first leaf, indecipherable as the story of life on the globe is concerned, is called the Azoic (lifeless) age.

Part of the same faint indications of primitive life are to be discerned in the next leaf, the Archean age. A vast fragment of this chaotic leaf lies on the earth's present surface in Canada, a big sliver of it extending into the Adirondack mountains in Northern New York.

Next comes the thick leaf called the Paleozoic (ancient life age). This is divided, from bottom upward, into four subleaves, named respectively the Cambrian, the Silurian, the Devonian and the Carboniferous. In the Cambrian there were few forms of life, and they seem to have been all marine, such as seaweeds and very simple animals, such as mollusks. In the Silurian "marine life, large oceans, small lands, uniform climate," continued to be the characteristic feature. The typical animals were invertebrates, that is creatures not constructed on the backbone principle.

The Devonian witnessed a decided advance. Land plants now begin to develop, and perhaps the first forests were then formed. The great characteristic of the Devonian was, however, the development of back-boned animals in the form of fishes. These no doubt lived in the late Silurian, but they became so abundant in the Devonian that it has been called "the age of fishes." The Carboniferous, which followed, was the era of the "coal plants," from which the principal coal beds of the earth were developed. Animal life was abundant in the Carboniferous, and then, for the first time, insects appeared in considerable numbers. Some of the Carboniferous insects were astonishing giants. One, a species of phasma, had a body a foot long and wings more than two feet in spread!

BIRDS IN CHALK AGE.

The next great leaf above the Paleozoic is the Mesozoic (middle life) age. This is divided from bottom upward into three parts, the Triassic, Jurassic and Cretaceous. The Triassic and Jurassic are characterized by the beginning of the mammals, or animals which nourish their young with their milk. But at that time they were insignificant little creatures. The great beasts called dinosaurs began in the Triassic, but attained their zenith in the Jurassic, which is often called "the age of great reptiles." These creatures, however, continued on, in changing forms, through the next, the Cretaceous, or chalk era. The enormous beds of chalk in many parts of the world date from this time, having been formed from the remains of countless billions of minute-shelled creatures inhabiting the sea. Birds made their first appearance, by development from reptiles, in the Jurassic, and continued to develop through the Cretaceous.

The last great leaf is the Cenozoic, (new life) age, also called the Age of Mammals, because they now became predominant. The Cenozoic has two principal divisions, the Tertiary below, and the Quaternary above, which brings us to the world of our time. The Tertiary, in turn, has three subdivisions, the Eocene, Miocene and Pliocene. Gradually through these Tertiary eras were developed the ancestral forms of many characteristic animals of our day, such as monkeys, horses, elephants and carnivorous beasts like wolves and tigers. The Quaternary is often called the era of man, because our species seems to have been unknown upon the earth until the last page of the geological history had been nearly finished. Man is the "Finis" of the first volume of the earth's history, but he is writing a second one for himself.

How To Get Rid of a Bad Cough

A Home-Made Remedy that Will Do It Quickly, Cheap and Easily Made

If you have a bad cough or chest cold that you want to get rid of, ordinary remedies get from any druggist 3½ ounces of Pinex (life elixir), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. Your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 70 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in this way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex"—do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

How Some Famous Bachelors Escaped Marriage

PROBABLY no man of fame has gone to a bachelor grave without one or more narrow escapes from Cupid's darts, however indifferently he may have professed to regard love.

Pitt always vowed that he had turned his back on the altar before he was "wedded to his country." Yet this cold-blooded statesman hovered more than once on the brink of matrimony, and was so infatuated with Miss W——, a Devonshire beauty, that on one occasion he drank her health out of one of her dainty shoes.

Theodore Hook, though he died a celibate, had his share of love adventures, and it was only lack of courage at the last moment that once kept him from the altar. He had actually posted a letter of proposal when his heart failed him, and he recovered the missive just as it was starting on its fateful journey.

Washington Irving's heart was buried in the grave of the beautiful girl to whom he had given it, when consumption took her from him in her seventeenth year.

TWO GREAT PASSIONS

"She died in the beauty of her youth," he wrote, "and in my memory she will ever be young and beautiful."

For fifty years he pillowed his head on her Bible and Prayer Book, and he died with her name on his lips.

The first moment Keats set eyes on Miss Fanny Brawne he knew he was undone, and every later meeting plunged him deeper in her toils. When his broken health compelled him to leave England the pain of parting from her was "beyond everything horrible," and in his last hours he cried in his agony:

"I cannot bear to die and leave her. Oh, God! God! God! Everything I have that reminds me of her goes through me like a spear!" How unworthy she was of such a passionate devotion was proved when, a few years after Keats' death, she wrote to a friend: "The kindest act would be to let him rest forever in the obscurity to which circumstances have condemned him.

Even Alexander Pope, with all his grotesque deformity, was as vulnerable as any amorous Adonis of his day. He lost his heart a dozen times to as many women—from Martha Blount, his boyhood's sweetheart, to Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, until that vixenish beauty once referred to him as that "baboon."

David Hume made one, and only one, offer of marriage, and resigned himself to a life of bachelordom when it was rejected. Gibbon would have found happiness in Susanna Curchod, a lovely and gifted Swiss girl, if his autocratic father had not frowned on the match.

And Buckle might have been a Benedict had he thought wedded life possible on a paltry $15,000 a year.

NEWTON'S FATAL SLIP

Charles Lamb resolutely turned his back on wedlock, even when he knew that Anna Simmons' heart and hand were his for the asking, because his sister Mary required his undivided care; and Horace Walpole's affection was distributed among so many fair women, from my Lady Ossory to the charming and talented Berry sisters, that he could never make up his mind to a definite choice.

Sir Isaac Newton's one romance came to a tragic termination when, in a moment of abstraction, while holding the hand of his lady love, he used one of her fingers as a pipe stopper.

Beau Brummel would probably never have ended his days in a pauper lunatic asylum had that perfumed dandy been less fastidious. Once, at least, he was on the verge of marriage, when he unaccountably broke off the engagement.

"Why did you do it?" a friend questioned him later.

"Well, my dear fellow," was the answer, "what else could I do? I discovered that Lady Mary actually ate cabbage!"

Manners and the Man

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HOW many of us think about our manners? And yet isn't it a true saying that manners make the man and lack of them the fellow?

Think if you will how often you introduce gracefully one friend to another. We are all supposed to know that the gentleman is introduced to the lady, no matter what his rank may be, never the lady to the gentleman. For instance, you would say: "Miss James, this is my friend, Mr. Swift," but not, "Mr. Swift, this is my friend, Miss James."

Remember to present young people to their elders and single persons to married.

Many persons wonder whether to shake hands on being introduced or simply to bow. If the introduction is formal a bow is sufficient. But if the stranger is to become a friend give a hearty grip.

Ladies have the handshaking privilege. A gentleman doesn't offer his hand first. It is assumed always that a man is honored by an introduction to a woman. This is why the latter need never rise if she happens to be sitting when the introduction is performed. But she always rises to meet one of her own sex, and a man is bound to get up for any sort of introduction.

It is easy to cultivate good manners—and it is profitable. As the world often judges us by the cut of our clothes, so it judges us by our manners.

Then why not play the game by knowing the rules? Good manners cost nothing, and etiquette is easy to learn.

After learning is a wonderful investment.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

AN UNREASONABLE STAND

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have a very dear girl friend who has been going about with a young man. Now we, my girl friend and I, have decided to have a surprise party in honor of this young man's sister, but it being inconvenient for his mother to have it just at present, the young man came to my home to notify me, and while there offered to take me to the moving pictures.

Upon hearing of this, my friend became greatly piqued. I think I am perfectly right, as this young lady is not engaged. F. T.

YOUR friend was quite unreasonable in her attitude. If you explain the situation to her quite frankly there is certainly no question of disloyalty. It must be rather flattering to this youth to have two girls quarreling over him. Settle your dispute and forget the trifling situation that caused it.

DON'T BE ABSURD

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am eighteen years of age, have a good position in a bank and am in love with a girl who is sixteen years old. She is a little coquettish and lets another fellow call on her when I am not there with her. Now I would like to know how I can stop this without a quarrel. A. G.

YOU have no right to demand that this girl give up her other friends. A friendship between a boy of eighteen and a girl of sixteen is all very well—if the girl's parents approve. But a love affair in which the young people devote themselves to each other is entirely out of place.

TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS A WEEK AND MATRIMONY.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Do you think it advisable for a young lady who is working in an office at a salary of $17 per week and who is accustomed to medium class life, to marry a fellow who is earning $25?

ANXIOUS.

UNLESS a girl is foolishly mercenary and thinks life was made just for enjoyment, there is no reason why she should not marry a man who is earning $25 a week and make a success of their home life. Of course, if good times and gayety mean more to her than womanly self-sacrifice, she had better not do a man the injustice of marrying him.

CHINESE DOCTOR SAYS MIND CAN RULE DRUGS

"Stop the dope habit and take your cue from the Chinese in Boston," is the way Dr. Eneang W. Chong, Harvard graduate and a well-known Chinese physician in this city, urges his brother physicians to cope with the drug evil.

Dr. Chong has only good words to say about his own countrymen since the passage of the Harrison law forbidding the use of opium. He thinks the Chinese have more will power than the average American to get rid of the drug habit.

Dr. Chong said:

Since I began practice in Boston five years ago or more, I have noticed a great change among my people.

I used to have twenty-five dope cases on hand and it took me some time to get them straightened out. But now, at this present moment, I have not one such case.

The drug habit among the Chinese is decreasing here in Boston and I know it.

CHINESE DROPPING HABIT.

As much as I admire the American, I can say that the Chinese have more will power than the average American.

Why, I know of persons who used opium, but now they have given up the habit and they have done so simply through their will power.

I do not believe there is a Chinaman in Boston who is addicted to the opium habit as slavishly as he was some time ago.

When you tell a Chinaman that he will not get better unless he gives up a habit, he takes you seriously and gets rid of the habit.

I tell my Chinese patients, "get your will power working or I'll do nothing more for you." Then they begin to get this will power going and I've seen a great change come over them.

You know that we Chinese doctors do not get paid for our services unless we cure our patients. "No pay, no cure," is followed closely.

WILL POWER ESSENTIAL.

Now you work this with your patient and you have him under your control. I ask my patient, "Do you want to get well?" They say "yes." Then I say, "Give up that drug habit, or that dope habit, and I will get you well." They know that they will not have to pay me if they don't get well. I do not want any money from a dead patient.

This works so well among the Chinese, who are used to this kind of practice, that it has got many out of bad drug habits.

I never yet found any one among the Chinese that did not want to get well. If they don't do what I want them to do, to get better, then I leave them. I simply say "I am not going to get anything from you, but you are going to die." This they naturally don't like to hear.

This has done more to awaken the Chinese in Boston, to get out of the opium habit than anything else. I see a great change among my countrymen, and I see, also, how much will power they have.

I believe every one should get will power, if they want to fight the drug habit. I am proud of my race in Boston for having so much of this.

Motor Notes.

B. J. C. KERRIGON.

The Overland tourists returned from their two days' visit to the Willys-Overland plant at Toledo today. They came home on the "Detroiter" and reported a particularly interesting and pleasant trip. Not only did the factory officials do everything in their power to make them feel at home, but they also gave them an opportunity to secure an insight into the method of motor car construction, delivery and sales, which was particularly pleasing and illuminative.

W. H. Sawyer, zone manager, and W. J. O'Connell, the head of the Boston distributing organization, saw to it that every one of the dealers enjoyed himself to the utmost.

G. W. Nash, president of the General Motors Company of Flint, is enjoying a brief rest on the Pacific coast. He will return to business in a few days.

• • •

Robert T. Walsh, formerly advertising manager of the Maxwell Motors Company, has become identified with the Briscoe Motor Corporation of Jackson, where he will handle the advertising account of that organization.

• • •

According to reports along the motor rialto, an increase in price is shortly to be announced by more than one concern.

• • •

J. W. Maguire, distributor of Pierce-Arrow cars, leaves today for Buffalo, where he is to act as host to several of his customers. Mr. Maguire believes that one of the strongest selling points is to induce his prospective customers to visit the Buffalo plant and see how Pierce cars are constructed.

PRINCETON TEACHER FIFTH WITH ALLIES

New York, March 22.—Norman Kemp Smith, professor of philosophy at Princeton University, is on his way to England today aboard the steamship Nordam to join a Scottish regiment and go to the front to fight for Great Britain. With him are his wife and two daughters. He is said to be the fifth member of the Princeton faculty to join the allies.

DERBY EARL CALLS ALL TO DEFENCE

London, March 22.—"No matter whether married or single, every man should be prepared to defend his country," is the reply of the Earl of Derby, the British director of recruiting, in denying the request of attested married men for the enrollment of every unmarried man before married men are called to the colors.

Stocks Opened on a Lower Level, but Had Partially Recovered by Noon—Boston List Irregular—Zincs Were Weak—Local Trading Quiet

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks had partially recovered this morning losses by noon in New York. By midday prices there were about on yesterday's closing level. Traders said covering of short contracts had been completed yesterday, and there was no early prospect from that quarter for buying. Business was dull.

Gains at 12 o'clock included American Can 3/4, American Smelting 3/4, Utah Copper 3/4, Inspiration 3/4, Studebaker 1/2, Mexican Petroleum 1/2, Republic Steel 1/2, Reading 1/2, Southern Pacific 1/2, Central 1/2, Northern Pacific 1/2, and Union Pacific 3/4.

Among declines were American Smelting preferred 1/4, Kennecott 1/4, Anaconda Copper 1/4, Industrial Alcohol 1/4, Crucible Steel 1/4, Texas Co. 1/4, Mexican Petroleum 1/4, Crucible Steel 1/4, Bethlehem Steel 1/8 at 49, Baltimore & Ohio 1/8, Pennsylvania 1/8, American Sugar 1/8, Butte & Superior 1/8, General Motors 1/8, Republic Steel 1/4, and United States Steel 1/8.

Unchanged issues included Western Union, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio preferred, Canadian Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

The Boston market remained irregular and dull. Utah Copper and Calumet & Hecla shoe became strong and was active also. Otherwise little of interest developed in the local market.

Gains at 12 o'clock included Alaska Gold 1/8, North Butte 1/8, Tamarack 1/8, Utah Copper 1/8, Calumet & Hecla 1/8, Smelting 1/8, and United Shoe 1/8.

Among declines were American Zinc 1/8, Butte & Superior 1/8, Copper Range 1/8, Lake 1/8, and Wonder preferred 1/8.

Mohawk and Osceola were among the unchanged issues.

In the morning, with more showing of strength, the closing prices of yesterday had not suffered. War industrials were weak, reflecting continued talk that the chief of ordnance may advise the president of the cessation of munitions shipments to Europe. Other issues were firm. The few stocks traded in outside the accumulated overnight were quickly absorbed on the local market when it opened. The sudden slump on Monday is believed to have disturbed public confidence to a point where the buying interest in speculation. Aside from price talk, there was little news affecting the situation, and little influence upon speculative operations.

At the end of the first hour there was more of a reactionary tendency and a number of issues had lost early gains or declined moderately, ranging to off two points and Mexican Petroleum over.

At the start the Boston market was weak and quiet. The most active issues were L. S. Smelting, which was strong and American Zinc which was weak. Butte & Superior also declined but was not so active as the others. Coppers were in no demand. Aside from mining shares there was little or no business.

On the London metal exchange spot copper advanced £5 to £109 10s, while futures were up £5 also, with electrolytic unchanged. Spot tin advanced 10s, futures 15s. Spot lead was up 2s 6d, straits 10s higher. Spot lead was unchanged and futures were up 3s 6d. Spot and future spelter were up 5s each.

Agents for foreigners are in the American market for more than 100,000 tons of billets and steel for shells, which is not an evidence of any desire to stop buying of this kind of such material.

Net earnings of the American Smelting & Refining company for 1915 were $15,053,304, and the balance left for common stock dividends was equivalent to 14.07 per cent, compared with 8.62 per cent for 1914.

Up to Saturday last Boston exports for this year were $10,258,400, less than for the corresponding date in 1915. This is one of the effects of railroad embargo imports, however, increased $14,252,400.

For Salespeople

If You Shoot at a Bird and Miss---You Feel Silly

The Salesman Should Be Equally Ashamed When He Aims at a Customer and Misses His Sale.

Copyright, 1916, by the Star Company.

THIS is for saleswomen and salesmen in stores, or any kind of selling.

Salespeople are engaged in a most important work, that of DISTRIBUTING the products of factories, farms, of all workers

A majority of salespeople find their work dull, uninteresting, monotonous. Many wait for the end of the day and watch the clock.

These will probably be waiting for the day's end and watching the clock when they are old. If they chose to have it so they could find in salesmanship the solution of their problem—SUCCESS, INDEPENDENCE and FREEDOM.

Life is all a HUNT. Each has his game in mind, each hunting for something. Nearly all hunt for dollars, here in America, where money represents everything else.

If salespeople in stores, or on the road, would hunt their big game, which is the CUSTOMER, as they would hunt other game out in the woods with a gun, there would be fewer clock watchers and fewer failures.

A customer entering the door of a store should be, to the ambitious salesman, the same as a wild duck coming within sight of a man lying in wait in the marsh.

The man waiting for wild ducks does not look bored when the wild duck appears. That is HIS CHANCE.

If he misses he feels foolish, charges himself with one more failure. If he succeeds, he knows that he is improving—and later in the day he tells somebody about it.

The salesperson who will look upon the customer approaching him as the duck hunter looks at the canvasback rising from the water will not long remain a minor salesperson. Other clerks will soon be working for him.

When you see a customer, big or little, important or otherwise, say to yourself, "There is my chance. It is my chance to study human nature and learn for myself whether I understand it better than I used to. It is my chance to increase my average of success, or to lower that average. If it goes lower, I go lower."

As the customer approaches you, study the personality with which you are about to deal. In the five minutes, or ten minutes, or one minute following, you are to learn something more about the possibility of YOUR making a success of YOURSELF.

The man with the ability to be in business for himself—something "better than a clerk"—can "sell" any customer entering a store.

You must look the customer in the eye.

Don't have your eyes wandering away while you talk, don't look unhappy and downtrodden. Try to imagine that you have been sitting out in the swamps since daylight waiting for a wild duck, and HERE is the duck.

Find out what the customer WANTS. Don't try to tell the customer what he or she OUGHT to want.

If a woman comes in to buy a fifteen-dollar dress, do not pull down something at seventy-five dollars, then push it languidly across the counter AND KILL THE SALE.

The first thing that you show to a customer ought to be at least SIXTY per cent. of what the customer wants. If you can get exactly what the customer wants at once, you are building up yourself, and may feel as proud as the man who brings down two ducks out of three with his two barrels.

You may say that nine-tenths of the work you are doing is done for somebody else.

So it is. But if you don't do the ONE-TENTH for yourself, and the nine-tenths for the other, you will remain a dreary salesman, a tenth-rate customer hunter, and never heard of.

Everybody has to begin by working for somebody else, or working in a small way, unless a father or grandfather has done the work.

The duck hunter sitting in the swamp, when he shoots ducks, is going to provide dinner for a number of other individuals.

He can't eat all, but that doesn't make him look bored and listless when the ducks appear HE TAKES PRIDE IN HIS WORK AS A HUNTER.

If you take pride in your work as a salesman or a saleswoman, forgetting the question as to who is to have the profit, ignoring gloomy reflections as to whether you are paid too much or too little—it is usually what the person is WORTH—if you concentrate your whole energy on the sale, and put your intelligence into wise treatment of each customer, you may count yourself on the road to successful work and a bigger reward.

The one thing necessary for practical success is UNDERSTANDING OTHER HUMAN BEINGS.

Salesmanship is the great gymnasium of the mind. Salesmanship gives more opportunity to study humanity than any other kind of work.

The smallest employe in a modern store lives in the stream of success. All the materials are passing him, all the opportunity, all the training are there.

He can succeed if he WILL, he can make himself an employer and owner if he WILL.

But he must hunt the customer as intelligently as he would hunt rabbits or quail if he were out in the fields. He must feel humiliated when he misses a sale; he must exult when he succeeds.

In short, the man with ambition WILL work, in spite of all conditions.

And the man without ambition will remain as a filler-in.

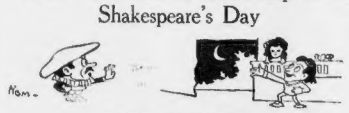
More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

If There Had Been a Censorship in Mr. Shakespeare's Day



"ROMEO AND JULIET."

CUT out that "Scene on Balcony"; a girl that's scarcely grown
Must not receive her young men friends without a chaperon.
That fighting in the tomb won't do; the author ought to know
That he should not put in a scene that shocks the public so.
Dispense with all that stabbing stuff; we simply can't abide
A drama with a tendency to sanction suicide.
This play must be rewritten. Let there be no brawling strife;
But make of it a pastoral of happy family life!

"HAMLET."

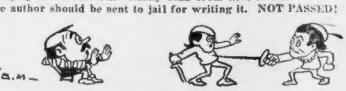
Tell Shakespeare that this scene alone should end the play's career.
There's too much murder, anyway, in this unhappy time.
Without a playwright finding ways to school the young in crime.
Polonious must not be killed in that culd-blooded fashion,
Have Hamlet simply box his earswith generous compassion.
If all the bloodshed is left out, the play will have real charm
And its production now and then cannot do any harm.

"KING HENRY THE FOURTH."

THOUGH Falstaff's antics with the Prince may please the witless masses,
We can't permit a mountebank to kid our ruling classes.
The tavern scene is vulgar, and the lesson it instills
Will lead the shiftless to believe they shouldn't pay their bills.
And furthermore all Falstaff does is sure to make a youth
Abandon any reverence he harbors for the truth.
The play is meretricious—trashy stuff from first to last.
The author should be sent to jail for writing it. NOT PASSED!



There Is Always a Way

An optimist is a man who doesn't worry about thirty-cent gasoline so long as he can get a meal now and then in a breadline and keep his tank filled with the price of the meal.

Any Hope Will Help

If some weather sharp, employing Professor Moore's long distance prophecy system, will assure us that Spring will be here by the middle of August he will be hailed as a public benefactor.

When Military Training Should Begin

By J. Madison Taylor, M. D.

Author of "Manual of Diseases of Children"; formerly Professor of Diseases of Children, Polyclinic College

THE age for making the fundamental impressions required as the essentials for military service is between fourteen and eighteen years.

Germany, with its well-nigh overwhelming demonstration of efficiency, lays the foundation for its industrial as well as its military prowess on just this line; her psychologists are constantly called into consultation by the Imperial Government.

Eminently peaceful Switzerland, girdled by dangers and the one little nation of Europe with which even Germany is chary of meddling, trains its boyhood on precisely this line.

Why should not the United States employ the means which have so well served the uses of two such radically different peoples, when these means promise a vastly larger measure of fundamental military preparedness than we plan now, together with the very ideal of industrial and economic efficiency for which we have today such an imperative need?

Our public school system lacks totally the German capsheaf of combined motor and mental training. Now, the essentials of military fitness, like the essentials of industrial adaptability, are these:

Essentials in Training.

Instinctive obedience, which American boys notoriously lack;

Graded responsibilities, which can come only through a uniform training in obedience;

Mass action, or co-operation, first in small groups, then in large bodies;

Individual adaptability, fitting the youth to acquire readily the special skill called for in any means of livelihood and in any special emergency of military need, and also providing a capacity for sustained endurance.

All of these qualifications can be secured for practically all of the youth of the United States by affording them the opportunity, at the right age, to receive a combined mental and physical training, the purpose of which need not even be so specifically military as to foster the warlike spirit.

Indeed, the concrete features of such a training can be entirely peaceful and along lines that make for industrial efficiency.

Such a training can be had in the form of a Summer vacation camp lasting two months and continuing for three years after the boy has passed his thirteenth year.

It should include surveying, engineering, road building, taking care of one's self in the open on land and water, scouting, tracking animals and men, and first aid to the injured.

It might provide also opportunity to acquire skill in certain crafts, such as marine, mechanical and electrical engineering, simple construction in iron, wood and other materials, use of the wireless, cooking, fire making and fire prevention.

Activities of Peace

These are the activities of peace, rather than of war; yet in any such vacation camp, carrying on their study and practise, the habit of obedience would become fixed and acceptable.

There need be not the slightest impairment of the native American spirit of individual independence; yet the co-ordinating discipline, which we conspicuously lack in the arts of peace, would be instilled and would raise the index of our efficiency in every department of our national life. The system would produce much better home makers as well as home defenders.

From the purely military standpoint, it would give to this country an unconquerable citizen body, a manhood composed of really potential soldiers and sailors who would require, instead of the year our own McClellan and Britain's Kitchener found needful to make a soldier, no more than one month of specific training to take the field as an army.

Real Love and Reverence Ella Wheeler Wilcox Says May Be Acquired by All

"Kingdom of Heaven," with All That It Means, Can Be Gained by Study of Mighty Universe and Direction of Thoughts Toward Higher Things

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1916, by the Star Company.

Proverbs 1.7—"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge."

Can "the fear of the Lord" be obtained or acquired, or does it have to be born in a man."

"Seek first the Kingdom of Heaven and its righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you."

How can one gain the spirit of "seeking first the Kingdom of Heaven" for its own sake?

Here are two things which I have long sought the method for—I mean a pure method of honestly acquiring unselfishness.

A SEEKER.

WE must take into consideration the fact of many translators in every ancient MS.

"Great love casteth out fear." Get your heart, mind and soul full of love of the Creator, and bathe your whole being in that essence and you will discover you have found the Kingdom of Heaven.

Where a man and a woman deeply, absolutely and absorbingly love each other, and a child is the result of this love, it is usually born with a religious nature, which instinctively turns in reverence and worship toward the Creator of universal life.

Not all people are so born, unfortunately, and for those who are not, doubt, questioning and despair often take the place of faith, reverence and love.

Person Not Born Loving and Reverent Can Become So Easily

But to all such I would say, Go out and look up at the stars some clear night. Realize how many millions and billions of worlds move back beyond those which are visible to your sight. Think of the wonderful precision and perfection in the arrangement of the solar system, and then consider how impossible it would all be unless some stupendous intelligence conceived and planned and executed it.

Then sit down alone in your room quietly for a few moments, close your eyes, and breathe a few deep inhalations and ask the Spirit of Love and Reverence to come into your being.

Be silent—breathe and wait. Free your mind of all other thoughts, just as you would empty a vessel into which you were asked to pour clean water.

Think of nothing but your desire for Love and Reverence. It will not come at one bidding if you have accustomed yourself to doubt and despondency.

But if you take a little time each day and make your mind passive, only asking for what you desire—love and reverence—they will be given.

Once your mind is filled with these sentiments, all other things shall be added.

But the strange part of it will be that you will cease to care greatly for "all other things" after you find the "Kingdom of Heaven" which is in your own mind and heart. You will be happy anywhere and under all conditions.

Only Fear Will Be That of Not Living Up to True Light

Yet whatever is added to your life you will enjoy with a new kind of enjoyment.

"Luck" will seem to come to you in many ways.

You will cease to worry and fret over trivial or material matters.

You will grow strong and vital, and your tastes will be simple. You will not know what loneliness is and your ambition will be to make the most of your own qualities rather than to win the world's acclaim.

Yet, should that come to you, you will use it to the world's advantage.

Your only "fear" will be the fear of not living utterly true to the light within you—which is the light from the Source. Perhaps that is what is meant, after all, by the Scriptural phrase.

Antoinette

By William F. Kirk

'NEATH the soft, red lights I sit
While the heavy moments flit
Slowly, dumbly to the past,
Each reluctant as the last.
Elegance and beauty rare
Hover 'round me everywhere.
All the languor of the East
Lends its softness to the feast.
Something misty films the air
O'er my table's vacant chair.
Does your spirit love me yet,
Antoinette?

Oh, the happiness we knew
When the universe was You!
When the Danube's dreamy strains
Sent the red blood through our veins,
And we clung with all our power
To the bliss of every hour!
Was it wrong of you and me?
Was our love idolatry?
Who shall say? But this I know:
All the glitter, all the show,
All for which men toil and scheme
Is to me a dusty dream.
Was our worship all in vain?
Shall we never kiss again?
Shall the burning sun above
Ever hide its rays of love?
Has it set, forever set,
Antoinette?

In-Shoots

Another brand of diplomat is the fellow who can shoot honeyed words while entertaining vinegar thoughts.

It is better not to tell important secrets to married men. The modern wife is a mighty persuasive creature.

Anyhow, the short skirt enables the lady with curved legs to display the courage of her convictions.

It is natural that the wife should want to know the nature of the "important business" that keeps the old man away from home nights.

It is better to hit the bullseye in a short sermon than to tire the sinner into repentance with a long one.

Love is not only blind, but seems to be unable to detect a gin breath of long standing.

As a rule the world never sympathizes with the married man whose nose is against the grindstone.
